High Rating For Reserves

"B" Battery of the 75th Field Artillery, Lincoln reserve unit, underwent its annual scrutiny from the inspector general's office of 5th Army Friday evening. Major Jones, inspecting officer, said the group would receive a high rating but added that it would take several weeks to evaluate "which side of the line the outfit is on, excellent or superior."

Strength of "B" Battery, according to Captain Carl Deiss, commanding officer, now totals 58 enlisted men and two officers. All members of the organization are volunteers. The Battery, which maintains and fires a 155 mm field piece and is classified as "heavy artillery" will be reorganized into a "light artillery" unit with a 105 mm howitzer as its nucleus, according to Captain Deiss, "about June 1."

No. 1 Honors to Mrs. Liesman at L.S.S.

Demonstration of skill, imagination and devotion wins recognition for Mrs. Hazel L. Liesman, psychiatric aide, who will be honored Sunday. She is number one among girls to be cited at the National Mental Health Week open house May 3 at L.S.S. gymnasium at 3 p. m. Mrs. Liesman is being held up as outstanding employee for her work with severely retarded girls. The citation provided by the institution says:—

Her program of scheduled recreational and self-help training has features illustrating the creative use of limited facilities, the development of exceptional motivation in the resident working girls and the intelligent adaptation of games to institution al routine.

Mrs. Liesman's outstanding contribution is set in the following context: Fuller cottage houses 128 severely retarded children ages 6 to 16; many are hyperactive and destructive. Approximately half the children are bedfast and many of those able to be up and about have marked orthopedic problems. Mrs. Liesman has major direct responsibility for 68 to 70 children (the exact number varies with transfers, conditional discharge, etc.); 42 or more of the children have severe neuro-muscular involvement.

Gives Them Training
The building employs three psychiatric aides concerned with care of children and they in turn supervise some 40 working girls whose ages range 13 to 40. Typically, Mrs. Liesman works with approximately 20 of these girls who are moderately and mildly retarded. They are assigned to the building for vocational training in child care. The aide's responsibility then is to care for children and in the process to give training to girls.

When Mrs. Liesman was first assigned to Fuller Cottage the situation was, as she described it, "crippled on one side and bedfast on the other." She immediately perceived the need for an organized program. Her major contribution has been a matter of organizing, through a series of steps, an activity-training program super-imposed on the ward routine.

Feeling Removed
Working on the self-discovered principle that "children behave well if they know what is expected of them" she began to teach them how to line-up, favoring group control in this setting because of the large number of children. She invented the idea of "holding bunny tails" in connection with the Easter program. This removed the sterile feeling of regimentation and encouraged an attitude of "constructive play" in the children and resident working girls.

Her second step was to introduce new recreational activities once control of the group had been established and a happy "play" atmosphere established. She began with stories after breakfast and singing-rhythm games after lunch. In these activities she encouraged the working girls to participate and later eased them into responsibility for the activity. It was then possible for her to do her "treatment work" while the working girls, seemingly remembering for the first time, began to talk games and songs they had learned in recreational classes.

Teaches Routine
As quickly as she could she began to turn "routine" into a game. The institution practice of fine-combing became "beauty shop" and whenever practical, chores are done with singing or with rhythm. She has become adroit at making the most mundane task a kind of play. She discovered that little things have inordinate motivational value—a rubber band in the hair became a "pony tail"; with the "pony tails" she was able to interest a formerly indifferent working girl in doing a better job with her class. In every avenue of Mrs. Liesman's approach there is ample evidence of imagination and initiative in the performance of her duties. Having established this aspect of her program, and feeling she had achieved the respect and enthusiastic support of her working girls, she began a series of self-help projects. Finding it impossible to work intensively with all the children at one time she began to single out certain children and to begin individual training. Working first with the child herself, she encouraged imitation of her activity by the working girls and eventually encouraging these girls to take over the training. This allows her to go on to another child.

An example is her work with crippled children; she supports the child and encourages attempts at walking, making a game of it and expressing approval for each minor effort. It is a slow process, but strengthens their leg muscles and develops coordination. As a result of her project two children have learned to walk this year. Three and maybe a fourth have made such progress that there is hope they will walk very shortly. We have every reason to believe these children would not have walked without this special help.

Mrs. Liesman feels most of the crippled children who can move their legs will eventually walk—at least she has hope for them. Recently, she and her girls taught a blind child to walk and when the child, exploring the wall, found her way to the toilet without help and used it the whole group were so delighted they talked of it for days.

Teaches Feeding
Feeding programs are another facet of her activity. She selects a child who does not feed herself and teaches her to hold the spoon by guiding it to the child's mouth, the child adapts the movement and is encouraged to try it alone. Again, Mrs. Liesman encourages the activity and encourages imitation and follow-through by the working girls. She is aware of the importance of motivation, pointing out a child likes attention and will let you feed it forever if you will do so. By changing the emphasis to "constructive attention" she encourages the child to obtain attention through achievement.

In this program noticeable improvements have been obtained in most of the ambulatory children. It is difficult to assess the actual number affected since this technique has been widely adopted by working girls and there has been no opportunity to keep track of pre and post training status.

Discovers Needs
In the aspect of the program involving working girl training, Mrs. Liesman's main ap-has already been described. Features need elaborate, however. Mrs. Liesman, that to be effective in this one must achieve results in the working girls. She set task as one of discovery child's need, devising an to meet the need and to communicate this activity working girls. Her method teach-by example.

There are problems which vent the full realization program; understaffing; ancillary facilities, lacking able durable toys and in training impose difficulties. However, Mrs. L. remains patient and optimistic.

In order to make up adequacies in her training has requested an opportunity visit recreation classes to new techniques, she has books on suitable play and questioned experienced people concerning techniques might the used on her. She has volunteered for the optional in-service courses offered by the institution.

Program Integrated
In observing her performance on the job, staff members impressed with how close program is integrated with routine and with how well additions implement the same routine. One obese individual with native intellectual ability, a feeling needs of children and high order motivation, an infectious but quiet stam and a high order of livy. Her initiative and livy are strongly temper common sense and the to "make do" with limits.

For her outstanding and creative programs—Mrs. Hazel L. Liesman Outstanding Psychiatric Lincoln State School for nominate her as a candidate for the National Association of Mental Health.

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (U) — The men's Bible class of the Myrtle Beach Methodist church has adopted a resolution calling on President Eisenhower to send Billy Graham or some other distinguished Christian leader "to represent God" at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva, May 11.

Faces Fifth Charge Here

Robert Thornton, counsel for John W. Darlington, the 25-year-old Lincoln man who faces four charges in connection with a wild car chase through city streets April 27, was in County court with his client Tuesday forenoon to file a motion to quash all four counts, only to have Asst. State's Attorney Rodney G. Bucher greet him with a fifth charge.

The fifth count, a separate charge, alleges Darlington bought beer for a 14-year-old youth April 24, contributing to his delinquency. Thornton won a week's extension from Judge Le-lanah H. Dunham on the charge and a chance to file additional motions.

Darlington, already unable to make bond on the first four counts, was also unable to make $500 bond on the delinquency charge and was remanded to jail.

In asking that the four counts be quashed, Thornton questions both the validity of the State's Attorney's charges and the manner in which they have been filed.

"We're Happy," Mom Wrote Before Little Sons Strangled

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A few hours before two of her young sons were strangled Saturday near San Diego, Calif., a 33-year-old mother wrote her sister that "We are very happy."

The mother, Mrs. Wanda Brogdon, formerly of Rockford, and her lover have been charged with murder in the slayings.

The letter was received Wednesday in Jacksonville by a sister, Mrs. Brogdon and Kenneth Archie Merriam, 36, made their first court appearances in the San Diego suburb of El Cajon. Their preliminary hearing was set for May 14.

Bodies Not Claimed
Meanwhile, the bodies of Virgil Brogdon Jr., 5, and David, 3, lay unclaimed in a public morgue. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Merriam told police he strangled the children after Mrs. Brogdon talked him into doing it because, she said, the little boys had been naughty and a nuisance. He and Mrs. Brogdon were calm at Wednesday's brief arraignment as they were when arrested Tuesday.

Miss Marjorie Lawson received the letter postmarked 6 p. m. May 2 at Linda Vista, Calif.

The boys are playing in the yard, Mrs. Brogdon wrote, "and Cindy (her 15-month-old daughter) is eating cookies with Kenneth in the kitchen."

The letter said Mrs. Brogdon and Merriam, an unemployed painter, were married in Yuma, Ariz., "on the Thursday previous."

Mrs. Brogdon and Merriam brought the children to San Diego from Rockford two weeks ago. They rented a house posing as man and wife.

So far as Jacksonville authorities knew, Mrs. Brogdon still was the wife of Virgil Brogdon, 42, a Rockford mechanic and father of the two dead lads. Brogdon filed suit for divorce April 16, charging desertion.

The county appointed attorneys for Mrs. Brogdon and Merriam when they said they had no money to engage their own. Merriam said he and the mother returned to the mountains east of San Diego Monday and got the bodies because she was afraid the boys had not died and were wandering around.

STOP SIGN "MISSED"

Warren Winter, 45, 307 Willard ave., was cited Wednesday by city police on a charge of failing to stop for a stop sign.

Taxpaying Rate Faster in Logan

Logan County Treasurer Herschel E. Shrader says taxpayers in the county have already paid $375,000 in real estate and personal property taxes at the windows of the courthouse office. The total, paid as part of a 100 per cent potential tax bill of $3,742,407.46, is running well ahead of last year's tally for a comparable number of days.

Shrader emphasized that, although payments are running ahead, there are more taxes to collect this year than last year. He reminds all who have not paid their real estate and personal property taxes that the first installment of real estate taxes and all personal property taxes become delinquent after June 1.

Last installment on real estate taxes becomes delinquent after Sept. 1.

Decline Hits Stock Market

NEW YORK 6B — The stock market declined in active trading early this afternoon as space and age issues turned mixed.

Losses of pivotal issues ran from fractions to 2 or 3 points. The missile - electronic - rocket fuel and other glamour stocks associated with the age of space were a jumble of gains and losses.

The New York Stock Exchange ruled out all "stop orders" in Thiokol. These are orders to buy or sell at specific prices above or below the going market price. They are banned upon occasion to prevent undue fluctuations in a stock.

Thiokol had gained 18 1/2 points this week up to Wednesday's close.

Other Gains Posted

Magnavox added another 3 points while gains of about 2 were posted for Havco, Admiral and Maytag. Zenith dropped about 4. Motorola and American Machine & Foundry about 2. Radio Corp. a point.

American Telephone slipped another 3 points, putting a heavy drag on the popular market averages. Eastman Kodak and Goodyear, other pivots, dropped about 2 apiece.

Losses of about a point were taken by U.S. Steel, Anaconda, Southern Pacific, Air Reduction, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, International Paper and Johns-Manville.

Montgomery Ward, Goodrich and General Tire.

U.S. government bonds were firm.

Files for Divorce

The customary 60-day "cooling off" period was waived in a Circuit Court divorce action Wednesday, as Loretta O'Connor filed a restraining injunction against her husband, Patrick J. O'Connor. She charges cruelty and physical abuse, and asks sole custody of their two-year-old daughter.

The couple married July 5, 1935, in Hollywood, Calif.

Mrs. O'Connor states in her complaint that her husband's conduct became "intolerable" because he struck her on the face and arms and, she further states, threatened April 29, 1936, to kill her if she did not leave him.

She also states in the complaint that she has been previously hospitalized as a result of injuries inflicted by her husband.

In asking that he be restrained from molesting her or her child, Mrs. O'Connor is asking for temporary alimony, support for the child, and any settlement the court may direct. She also petitions for payment of all legal costs sustained by her in the complaint.

Flattens Herself, Escapes Injury When Run Over by Subway Train

CHICAGO (AP) — A slightly built woman slipped and fell from a loop subway platform into the path of an onrushing train Thursday.

The screech of the train's startled throngs of homeward bound travelers.

A platform guard, Earl Jones, 35, signaled the motormen with a flashlight and the motorman slammed on the brakes for an emergency stop.

The train was unable to stop short of the imperiled woman, Mrs. Olga Hammel, 56, a grandmother. The first two cars and the front trucks of the third passed the spot where she had fallen before the train stopped.

Flattens Herself

But fate had smiled as Mrs. Hammel fell. After she fell, Mrs. Hammel flattened herself in the drainage trough between the rails as the cars passed over.

Power was shut off on the third rail. Police and firemen arrived as the crowd watched. Mrs. Hammel crawled from beneath the train unaided and was lifted to the platform.

She brushed her clothing. A Chicago Transit Authority employee suggested maybe she should go to a hospital.

"I am not hurt," Mrs. Hammel said, "but I am embarrassed. I want to go home."

She joined her sister, Mrs. Marie Kroupa and took the next northbound train.

1,325 Delegates For Republican 1960 Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1960 Republican National Convention in Chicago will have 1,325 delegates with one vote each under a tentative apportionment worked out by the party's national committee.

This is just two more than the 1956 convention roster. It was computed on the basis of rules adopted at the last convention.

The 1960 total could be increased by 6 to 1,331 if Hawaii, treated as a state in the computation, elects a Republican senator or governor in its first state election next July 28.

Nominations at the national convention are by majority.

Demos Act Later

Democrats will not determine their 1960 convention strength until next fall. Their national committee is authorized to fix the basis of the apportionment, in contrast to the Republicans who must use a formula worked out by the last national convention.

Here's the way the Republicans are allocating to each state delegates to their 1960 convention:

How It Works Out

Delegates at large: 4-2 for each senator; 2 for each representative at large; 6 bonus delegates for each state casting a majority for the GOP candidate for president in 1956 or, failing that, electing a Republican Senator or governor then or in a later election.

District delegates: 1 from each congressional district casting at least 2,000 votes for the Republican nominee for president in 1956 or for the Republican candidate for Congress in the last preceding congressional election; 1 additional delegate for each district casting at least 10,000 votes for the same candidates as above.

Auto Sought In Complaint

A complaint was filed by Raymond Kenneth Gehlbach against Ray Colaw in County Court Wednesday, asking that a 1937 automobile said to belong to J. Gehlbach be restored and an additional $448 be paid him for loss of the automobile, alleged to have been detained by Colaw since October 30, 1935.

The original value of the automobile was pegged at $1600 in the suit. Gehlbach is asking for that sum in addition to the $448 in case the automobile is not returned.

Two Arraigned In Court Here

Two out-of-county men, under Logan County indictment for alleged participation in a series of burglaries and robberies, were arraigned in Circuit Court Wednesday before Judge Frank S. Bevan.

They are Charles Spradley, 23, Pekin, and William Wayne Porter, 25, Peoria.

Porter will appear again before Judge Bevan May 29. He was given a continuation, after receiving his copy of the indictment, to consult with his attorney, Robert McCarthy.

Spradley, who appeared in Court to receive his copy of the indictment, was without counsel. Judge Bevan appointed Ed Miller to serve as his attorney. Case was also continued to May 29.

Mrs. Mary Hays Dies at Denver

MT. PULASKI — Mrs. Mary Waddell Hays of Denver, Colo., died in a hospital in that city Tuesday at 1:40 p.m. The funeral was in Denver Thursday and the body will arrive in Mt. Pulaski Friday. It will be received by Schall Funeral Home where friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening. Services will be at the funeral home Monday at 3 p.m., with the Rev. John Muter officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Pulaski cemetery.

Two Men Get Divorces

Two divorce decrees were granted by Circuit Judge Frank S. Bevan and filed Wednesday and Thursday with Circuit Clerk Earl Madigan.

William E. Gosda won a divorce from Millie Gosda on grounds of cruelty, and Richard E. Elmore was awarded a divorce from Betty Elmore on grounds of adultery.

Gosda, who claimed in his complaint that his wife "kicked, slapped, and hurled objects at him, as well as lacerated him on one occasion" will have sole custody of their two children, son, with rights of visitation reserved to the wife.

Elmore, an Air Force man, who separated from his wife almost immediately after their marriage July 23, 1935 to go on active duty with the Air Force, received his divorce by default when the defendant failed to answer the charges. The Court ruled the charge "confessed."
