Heart Attack Crash Angle?

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical authorities studied the physical condition of a transit authority motorman today to determine if he may have had a heart attack just before his elevated train rammed another train.

Fifty-six persons were injured Monday in the North Side crash. Motorman Vernon Brookins, 44, was quoted as saying "things weren't quite right" before his eight-car northbound train banged into a four-car train standing idle.

Chicago Transit Authority officials said Brookins was in excellent physical condition, and company records showed he passed the CTA's most rigid physical examination last February.

Company officials said the crash resulted from "inattentiveness" in the Negro motorman's failure to see the parked train at the Wilson Avenue station.

A staff physician at Louis A. Weiss Memorial Hospital, where Brookins was being treated for injuries, said a cardiograph showed the motorman had a "very abnormal heart condition." But, Dr. Robert L. Simmons, added that it would be 24 hours before his physical condition could be determined.

Halleck Sees No Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana discounts the chance of tax cuts coming session of Congress.

While there may be some legislation, Halleck said in interview, "I don't look for any cuts."

The House Ways and Means Committee currently is conducting hearings on general tax revision. It is expected to recommend legislation to plug holes and remove inequities in the present tax structure.

Some Democrats and Republicans are clamoring for relief for lower-income taxpayers either through an increase in personal exemption allowances or cut in rates.

Halleck said he didn't see how taxes could be cut and the budget kept in balance.

"We must have a balanced budget," he said, and predicted the 1960 election-year session of Congress would be highlighted by "another battle of the budget."

He said he could not predict what form the bill will take but told reporters he thinks the Senate can reach agreement on a bill in about three weeks of debate, scheduled to begin Dec. 15. Dirksen said he thinks Congress will also act on a general tax program.

brass alternated in playing a carol prelude. The candlelight procession put the audience in proper mood for what was to come.

"Heaven's Message" and "Wake, Awake for the Night Is Flying" were handled by the Chorus (men) in stirring fashion. Then came the stentorian "Annunciation" by Walter Anderson, bass soloist; and "The Magnificat" by Barbara Lunkin, soprano.

"Heaven's Message" was the theme of the first section of the program.

Part II was "Heaven's Gift" and brought the carols after a Messiah recitative by Ethel Feldmann, soprano, sung in a pleasing, well-interpreted way. The carols were "French, Tyrolean and Czech. "Come, Shepherd, Come," was a standout—the smooth flowing, measured tone featuring Thomas Wilson, outstanding tenor soloist. The beloved-by-all "Silent Night" was also a favorite.

Drum Carol Novel

"Carol of the Drum," a Czech carol, was in the category of "different" and provided an appealing change of pace. With the Chorus (women) voices carrying the strain, the men provided an unique syncopated "back beat"—a simulating drums. The effect was impressive.

"Earth's Welcome" was the title for the third and last section of the program. In the Song of Simeon (Nuno Dimitris) Mr. Wilson again showed his voice to advantage. John Vetroch, a good baritone, had the solo part in "Three Kings" and George Lange, also a tenor, joined Mr. Wilson to help make the familiar German melody—"O Tannenbaum"—enjoyable.

"Hail" Number Climax

Furnishing a fitting climax to the Christmas music was a massed, resounding rendition of "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." It was done in full voice and full brass with the tympani effectively aiding the performance. None went away without being thrilled by this closer.

Adding to enjoyment of the concert was the narration by Paul Zibrecht. Scriptural passages were woven into the progress of the program. Spot and other lighting further enhanced the Seminary performance.

Stocks Higher At New York

NEW YORK (U. S. Oils joined steel and electronics as pace-makers in an active and higher stock market early this afternoon. Oils were ahead fractionally renewing their recent strength after absorbing some jolting losses earlier this year.

Gains in steel shares were fractional for the most part, although Jones & Laughlin held a gain of around a point, as industry and union bargainers again met with government mediators. Polaroid, up more than 4, paced the electronic group.

Volume was well ahead of that in recent days.

The general background of business was favorable. Nonferrous metals firmed a bit with fractional changes prevailing. Rails also moved over to the plus side by a narrow margin. This group, like the oil shares, has been hit hard in 1939.

He spoke to the members, saying he hopes the park will be used by county residents and not just city residents. He told the supervisors the park needs an easy access route and that present park funds do not provide for a road. He said funds are being stretched at every point in the rehabilitation of three buildings on the grounds and other projects.

Adding of this road to the county highway system will involve the acquiring of right-of-way to widen the road plus an estimation by G. Conrad Miller, superintendent of county highways, of about $20,000 for improvements.

"To symbolize, if I can, the fact that the United States stands with the leaders of India in a common quest for peace. May Be Useful

"Let us all pray that something, even this little step, may have some useful purpose in furthering that great hope."

The flight from Kabul, Afghanistan — across the Hindu Kush Khyber Pass — took an hour and 54 minutes.

The President flew to this most populous of the world's democracies for a five-day stay after a five-hour visit in Afghanistan, a land-locked neutral kingdom on the southern flank of the Soviet Union.

In less than 12 hours Eisenhower had trod the soil of three nations on his 11-nation goodwill tour.

He wound up a triumphal visit to allied Pakistan at sea-level Karachi, flew to mile-high Kabul for a meeting with Afghanistan officials, and sped on to New Delhi, at the heart of the Indian sub-continent.

Long before the President's Boeing 707 jet appeared in the crystal sunshine above New Delhi, virtually every foot of his 11-mile route into the capital was lined by ranks of cheering Indians.

Police prepared for a crowd of 500,000. Six hundred policemen lined the route.

Seven hundred buses and trucks and more than 800 bullock carts provided round trips free to spots along the route from Palam Airport to Rashtrapati Bhavan, the 340-room palace of President Rajendra Prasad, where Eisenhower will spend his five nights in India.

Nine special trains brought spectators from points as far away as 200 miles. Thousands upon thousands came by foot.

Schools and offices closed at noon.

More than 3,000 pairs of flags — the Stars and Stripes and the orange, white and green banner of India — flapped together along the route from the airport to the presidential palace.

Merchants who normally decorate only for Diwali — the Hindu festival of lights in October — strung thousands upon thousands of light bulbs to turn the Indian dusk into a glittering fairyland of color.

Diphtheria in Three States

A diphtheria epidemic is feared in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, according to reports from those states.

All school activities were halted at Great Bend on orders of health authorities. It is planned to keep classes suspended until 80 to 85 per cent of the pupils are im-

Fitness Report

Are Rural Youth letting their city cousins get ahead of them in keeping physically fit? According to figures recently received by assistant Farm Adviser, Dorrance Buckner, from D. M. Hall, of the extension staff at the University of Illinois, this statement would seem to be true.

Of the 88 agricultural 4-H club members taking part in the Physical Fitness Field Day last August, only one participant improved his score of the previous year.

Tests are given to determine the physical fitness of the 4-H club members, and awards are given to those who improve their score over last year. Some of the tests

Chapman to Be Candidate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Lt. Gov. John William Chapman (R-Springfield) announced his candidacy for a third term Tuesday before the Republican Women's Club of Sangamon County.

A successful bid would make Chapman the second lieutenant governor in the state's history to hold the position three consecutive times. Only Fred E. Sterling, GOP lieutenant governor from 1921-29, was elected three times to the post.

In announcing he will seek the nomination in the April 1960 primary, Chapman pointed out that he operated his office during the past two years on a smaller appropriation than his forerunner did eight years ago.

More than 22 per cent of his 1958-59 appropriation had been turned back to the state treasury, Chapman said.

During the past seven years he noted he had addressed more than 1,000 groups, and was the first lieutenant governor to devote his entire time to the position.

Santa and the Ice King

(SYNOPSIS: Oonik and Santa have finally found the Ice King, busily grinding out harsh winter storms from his fearful ice castle. When Santa explained that he and Oonik had come as friends, the Ice King stopped his work and suddenly burst into tears.)

Chapter Twelve

THE ICE KING'S STORY

Oonik marveled to see the Ice King cry. Even the King's tears were made of ice. They rained from his cheeks and clattered to the floor like hailstones on a roof.

"What is it? What is the matter?" cried Santa in alarm.

"Nothing," replied the Ice King kicking away the tears. "It's just that you're the first to ever come here and call himself friend."

Then he told Santa how all his life he had lived alone in his frozen castle where not even a servant would live. How no one ever came to call. How he had no friends and everyone in the whole world hated him because he was Winter itself and brought everyone cold and misery.

"But you are wrong!" protested Santa. "Winter has its proper place. Children love snow and animals love to hibernate and even grownups love to sit before their fires on stormy nights."

The King's face brightened. "Do they really like me?" he asked.

"Of course they do," replied Santa.

Why Did You Do It?

"But now," went on Santa sternly, "it is August. For four months the world has waited for spring and summer but still you send your ice and snow and frigid winds. That is wrong. Why do you do it?"

"It's because I am so lonely!" burst out the Ice King. "All winter I can keep busy making storms but in summertime there's nothing to do but sit and mope. So this year I decided I would just keep on making winter forever and that way I'll always be busy and happy too."

Santa shook his head sadly. "And so the whole world will freeze and starve."

The Ice King hung his head and walked away. "I thought that since they hated me anyway I might as well be really hateful," he mumbled.

Santa took out his pipe and lit it. For a long while he smoked in silence and then he said, "You must get a wife."

"What?" cried the Ice King turning to stare.

"A wife. You must get a wife to love you and care for you and keep you from being lonely or feeling hateful again."

"A wife!" whispered the Ice King and his eyes softened and he began to smile. Then his face clouded over and he burst out bitterly. "Who would ever marry me?"

"There are lonely maidens in the world just as there are lonely men," said Santa. "The trick is to get them together. I have in mind for you a beautiful creature whom I happen to know is in a marrying mood."

"Who?" said the Ice King eagerly.

"The Sun Daughter," said Santa. "She dwells in the East where the sun rises each day." He paused and scratched his head. "Ah," he sighed. "If only I had my reindeer back we could travel there in a single day!"

Oonik, quiet and awe-struck all this time, now tugged at Santa's sleeve.

"I can get the reindeer," he said.

Santa shook his head. "No, my boy, I turned them loose, you remember, and they are far away now hunting for the summer food they could not find up here."

"I am a good reindeer hunter,"

Oonik bragged. "My father me well."

"But even your father has been able to find any reindeer this summer," said Santa.

"I will not find just any deer," insisted Oonik. "I want your reindeer."

"But how can you?" cried Santa, "when I have turned free?"

"Because," said Oonik, smile, "they have followed me here, all the way."

Herd of wild deer came out of the woods near Yorktown, N.Y., to forage for food. The animals halted traffic in some spots.

It headed into northern Indiana, Michigan and northwest Ohio, with snow, freezing rain and sleet indicated. A belt of sleet or freezing rain appeared likely to precede the snow storm into western New York and Pennsylvania.

Wisconsin and northeast Iowa were hit by the heaviest snow covering in the Midwest, from four to seven inches. Falls in Minnesota and Illinois were more than two inches.

It was cold in most areas from the Rockies to New England.

STAR STAMP

BALTIMORE — Chief Magistrate Joseph Kolodny began using his Christmas star today to separate the fakers from the straight talkers in police court.

Since Monday, Kolodny has been stamping a star on the hand of every man coming before him on a drunk charge. If the man asks to be "with his family" because of Christmas, his request is granted. The star, which can't be washed off, is invisible except under ultra-violet light.

From now until Christmas, every defendant holds his hand under Magistrate Kolodny's lamp. If a star is there, he gets 90 days.

SALESMAN FIRST:

Newsmaker of Year Role to Khrushchev

By DAVID L. BOWEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Nikita Khrushchev, the traveling salesman for Russian communism, has been voted Newsmaker of the Year for 1959.

It's the second time the unpredictable Soviet Premier has placed first in the annual poll of the nation's news editors conducted by the Associated Press. He finished on top in 1957, the year he consolidated his power in the Kremlin at the end of the struggle following Stalin's death.

The vote does not mean news editors believe Khrushchev is the most popular or commendable figure on the world scene. It is solely an acknowledgment that he generated the most news, good or bad.

Khrushchev hit the peak of his headline grabbing during his 12-day tour of the United States in September. Greeted by President Eisenhower and a 21-gun salute in Washington, he traveled across the nation and back—sometimes trading wisecracks with his hosts, other times bitterly attacking those who pressed questions on Soviet actions in Hungary and elsewhere.

He presented a grandiose world disarmament plan before the United Nations, spoke of himself and his visit as a harbinger of peace, but pointedly warned of the consequences of war. He announced his willingness to negotiate the crisis over the future of West Berlin in a crisis he precipitated by threatening to sign a unilateral peace treaty with East Germany but yielded not an inch. And he boldly lectured a nation-wide American TV audience on the goals of communism.

After private talks with Khrushchev at Camp David, Eisenhower announced plans to visit Russia and his willingness for a Big Four summit conference. Khrushchev departed in an atmosphere of reduced tension which apparently will continue into the new year.

The AP editors also pegged Khrushchev the top newsmaker in foreign affairs, again duplicating their selection in 1957. Last year Charles de Gaulle's return to prominence in France gave him the titles in the same categories.

Continuing supremacy in his field, Gorman - born Werner Von Braun walked off with the newsmaker laurels in science for the third year in a row. His nearest competitors were the anonymous Russian scientists who succeeded in designing the Soviet moon rockets.

Pope in Religion

Pope John XXIII was selected for the second year as major newsmaker in religion. The spiritual ruler of the world's Roman Catholics has steadily made headlines since his coronation in 1957, often the result of his fresh approach to the problems of his office.

In the labor category, the AP editors gave the nod to David McDonald, pipe-smoking president of the powerful AFL-CIO United Steelworkers and steel strike, longest walkout in American steel industry history. The strike ended only after the Supreme Court upheld a Taft-Hartley injunction ordering strikers back to work. The basic issues remain unresolved.

American Motors' dynamic president, George Romney, repeated as top newsmaker in business on the basis of the continued spectacular success of his company. After enjoying the envy of his competitors last year as American Motors rolled up large profits while other car-makers had to scramble to maintain profit margins, Romney this year watched the Big Three follow him into production of compact cars.

Charles Van Doren, the repentant wonderboy of television quiz shows, was singled out as major newsmaker in entertainment. While the impact he made as a spectacularly successful quiz show contestant was considerable it was far overshadowed by the headlines generated when he confessed before a Congressional investigating committee that he received questions in advance.

In literature, the editors once more elected Boris Pasternak, the 1958 winner of the Nobel prize in literature. While the great tumult over Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago" — published in the West but suppressed in the Soviet Union — occurred last year, the Russian author's name remained prominent in 1959.

Ingemar Johansson's knockout of Floyd Patterson made him the runaway winner of the title as newsmaker in sports, succeeding Casey Stengel of the collapsed New York Yankees.

Counseling for Youths Offered

Psychiatric counseling is available for persons up to 18 years of age in this area through the Institute for Juvenile Research, a part of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare, it was explained at this week's Rotary Club meeting.

Dr. Harold Marley, a psychiatric counselor for the institute, spoke to Rotarians on the subject, "Man of the House," and also explained his department's functions.

Dr. Marley said the father in a family should neither play the part of a constant Santa Claus or a constant disciplinarian. He said it is necessary for the father, along with the mother, to help complete the development of the child.

There is great need for understanding the child's point of view, he said.

Applications for counseling by the institute may be obtained from Lincoln Memorial Hospital, doctors or ministers, it was reported.

Lower Bond Sought for Murder Charge Defendant

MARION, Ill. (AP) — A circuit court hearing on a reduction of bond motion for Dr. W.J. Goodpaster was scheduled for today. The optometrist is charged with the Christmas morning rifle slaying of a neighbor woman and of trying to kill the man with whom she lived.

Goodpaster, the brother of Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, staff secretary to President Eisenhower was under $50,000 bond on a murder charge for the slaying of Mrs. Margaret Strunk 51.

Friends signed the bond Saturday but State's Attorney Carl Sneed immediately charged Goodpaster with assault with intent to murder for the shooting of Mrs. Strunk's companion, Berand Dobraski, 32. This bond was not filled and Goodpaster remained in jail Sunday.

Reveal His Story

Dobraski, shot twice in the back of the head, was reported in "satisfactory condition" at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis Sunday night.

Sneed said Dobraski told this story in the hospital:

He and Mrs. Strunk, the mother of 10 children, whom he called his common law wife, were walking down a country road near Goodpaster's home Christmas morning after their car broke down while they were making a round of local taverns.

Goodpaster's watchdog began barking and Dobraski threw some rocks at it.

Goodpaster became, irate, chased them in a jeep and shot them down.

Voices Denial

Goodpaster denied knowing anything about the shootings.

The Strunk woman was shot at close range and her body dragged 30 yards to an abandoned strip mine filled with water.

In spite of his wounds, Dobraski ran 600 yards to a nearby house where help was summoned.

The gun used was believed to have been a .30 caliber U. S. Army carbine. Three expended rounds of carbine ammunition and one live one were found near the scene. Authorities planned to search the numerous strip mine pits for it today.

Goodpaster has denied ever owning a carbine. Sneed said been set for this afternoon in court of Circuit Judge Harold Zimmerman.

Goodpaster was found innocent of a charge of assault with intent to murder in a two-day trial circuit court in 1942. He was charged with shooting a Chinaman in the stomach during argument about a minor collision. Evidence that the Chinaman was also armed was produced.

Stocks Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The long-neglected oils continued to set the pace as the stock market mounted a year-end rally early this afternoon.

Trading was the most vigorous of the week as key stocks advanced from fractions to a point or more on a broad front.

The aircraft, also well below their highs of the year, participated with the oils as they rose in response to demand from the big portfolios.

The "oversold" oils have been recommended for some time as likely prospects for a rise in 1934.

Motors also were fairly strong but steels were wobbly as the labor situation continued to remain at an impasse.

MAN OF MONTH:

Varied Interests Mark Life of Postmaster Floyd Durst

By JOHN J. SWINGLE

From athletics in high school to a rough hitch in the Army to Lincoln postmaster. Those are highlights in the life of the Courier-Man of the Month for December, Floyd Durst.

Although not born in Lincoln, he has lived in or near the county seat since he was about 10 years old. He was born in Fairfield, Ill., April 19, 1914, and left there when about three or four years old to go to Champaign.

Then, less than a year later, his father, who was a high tension lineman for Western Union, was sent to Mt. Pulaski where Floyd started to school. From there the family went to Latham, and then moved about four miles outside of Lincoln in 1924.

He attended Briggs School near Fogarty elevator and reports he moved into Lincoln in 1926. "I was at Jefferson school awhile, then went to Central," came 1929 and our subject started to Lincoln High School, the same year a previous man of the month, Principal Jack O. Hodgson, began teaching there.

ON TITLE TEAMS

It was while at Lincoln High that Floyd got into athletics. He played football and basketball and captained both teams. This was at the time when Pick Dehner, who is now coach at East St. Louis, was starring. It was in Durst's first year that Lincoln won the Big 12 conference football title.

Floyd says Andy (Roy S. Anderson, now athletic director) is the first coach he remembers. Then came Jack Lipe and Del Spears. There were also a couple of good years for basketball, according to the Man of the Month. In 1931 and '32, the Lincoln eagles went to the sectional tournament at Springfield. In the finals one year, they were beaten two points by Beardstown.

Following graduation, Floyd stayed out of school one year and then went to Murray State Teachers College in Kentucky on a football scholarship. "I got hurt in football shortly after and couldn't play so I dropped out," recalls the postmaster.

York to Melbourne, Australia to New Caledonia to Guadalcanal, where he landed in September of 1942.

One incident that sticks in his mind is an attack on Mt. Austin, one of the most strategic points there. "I'll never forget, it was just like what one colonel said, like getting a tiger by the tail and not knowing what to do with it."

CONTACTED MALARIA

After a rest at Fiji Islands, he received word to return to the United States for officers school at Fort Benning, Ga. Three attacks of malaria forced him to drop out, but he was put in charge of a candidate class as a light weapons instructor.

White River to Beaver, Ark. A wonderful trip, very relaxing," he said. "It wasn't so much that the fishing was particularly good," he continued, "it was the scenery and relaxing atmosphere."

In regards to hunting, he prefers bird and duck hunting. Big game hunting, such as for deer, doesn't appeal to him. One of his favorites in the angling department is fishing for bass. He still remembers when he caught 10 bass weighing 37 pounds in less than an hour and a half at Lincoln Lakes.

Sneet shooting also claimed the attention of the postmaster for about four years. During that time he shot for a team which in the Korean War. A physical examination dismissed him and he was also given a medical discharge from the reserves.

Floyd is a member of the Trinity Episcopal church in Lincoln and serves on the vestry. He has been a member of the Elks lodge for more than 20 years and is a trustee. At one time he was a member of the American Legion and was a charter member of the Amvets. In his present job he is a member of the National Assn. of Postmasters and county director of the organization.

The December Man of the Month's mother, Mrs. Mattie Durst, lives at 229 Seventh st. in Lincoln. He has three brothers, Kenneth, Paul, and Lester. The latter lives in Homer, Ill. He also has a sister Mrs. Wilma Suedmeier of Lincoln.

Insurance Rates to Be Lower

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A 20 to 30 per cent reduction in homeowners' insurance policy premiums was announced Tuesday by Gov. William G. Stratton, effective Jan. 25.

The homeowner policy is a package, covering home, contents, personal liability on or away from the premises, glass breakage, and theft on or away from the premises.

The savings in relation to current rates are estimated at more than two million dollars in annual premiums.

The 20 to 30 per cent reductions in premiums depend on the type of construction, and amount of insurance in each case.

Depending upon the adoption by the insured of a number of op-

Stratton's statement said savings will be considerably increased as more and more insured homeowners avail themselves of this type of coverage.

Receive Many Awards
Lincoln drivers are a part of the huge postal fleet which travels nearly a billion miles a year.
This gigantic movement of the nation's mail volume requires 100,000 vehicle operators. Since initiating the safety program Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has accepted many safety awards on behalf of postal employees.
Through an organized safety movement by him, Regional operations Directors and 37,000 postmasters, a tremendous improvement has resulted. Downward trends in costly accidents are making an impressive contribution for better service to the public.
In addition to the group performance award by the Regional Operations Director, individual safe driver awards are presented to accident free employees based on their experience each year.
