Rumors of 'Maggie' End in Engagement

By NORMA GAUHN
(Associated Press Writer)
A pretty, fun-loving princess lives in a world of gossip about her love life.

That has been the lot of Princess Margaret Rose, the lovely younger sister of Britain's Queen Elizabeth.

Rumors may start on such flimsy evidence as a dinner date — even though the couple always is in a group of six or more.

Tongues wag if a princess dances more than once with the same young man. Or if an eligible nobleman comes to call. Or if the two are guests at the same house party.

Tales Put at Rest
Now all those tales have been laid to rest with the announcement by the queen mother that Margaret Rose is betrothed to 29-year-old court photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones.

Five months older than the princess, Armstrong-Jones is the son of the countess of Rosse and a prominent London jurist, R.O.L.

U. S. Missile Firing Plan 'AFF'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has canceled plans to shoot a Super-Atlas nearly 9,000 miles from Cape Canaveral past the tip of Africa over the Indian Ocean. One unconfirmed report was the President Eisenhower personally turned down the idea.

The Air Force has had the beefed-up Atlas missile on a launching pad at Canaveral for days. Actual firing times were set several times and then postponed because of weather conditions.

When these plans became known in high Washington circles, the State Department reportedly raised the point that no public notice had been given so ships could avoid the impact area. Air Force officials argued this wasn't necessary because the rocket was intended to burn up in the atmosphere at the end of the trip and so would pose no danger.

The unconfirmed report said the matter was brought to the President's attention during his current South American tour, and he turned thumbs down, at least for the present.

The long shot, if it had gone off as planned, would have traveled more than 2,000 miles than any previous U.S. missile.

Mark Cards for Protection

Identification cards are available from the office of County Clerk Leonard McCann for the protection of tavern owners in Logan County and for the benefit of persons of legal age.

The cards are issued by the county clerk and bear his seal and the name, address, birthdate, photograph, and signature of the person to whom it is issued.

The state's attorney's office reports this is the only legal identification card bartenders and tavern owners may rely upon when in doubt about a person's age. Accepting driver's licenses or other identification as proof a person is 21 years old is done at their own risk.

There is a $2 fee for the cards and those purchasing them must furnish their own photograph. The cards have been available for a number of years.

A notice sent to all licensees for sale at retail of alcoholic liquor further states that the operator has the right and duty to demand the production of such a card and the question of whether or not the underage person had such an identification card will be an important factor in future decisions involving sales or gifts of alcoholic liquor to minors.

The notice is from the Liquor Control Committee of the Logan County Board of Supervisors.

Stocks Quoted At Higher Mark

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market took a jog to the upside in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Gains by key stocks ran from fractions to more than a point, outbalancing an assortment of losers.

Some of the electronics and other stocks which drew speculative demand posted gains going to 4 or 5 points.

The market had an irregular start then picked up gradually.

Wall Street seemed heartened by government forecasts that spending by business for plant and equipment is expected this year to top the record of 1957.

Some impressive corporate reports also bolstered sentiment.

By JAMES MARGOW
It may be worth the trouble—before filing your 1959 income tax return—to list all your possible deductions to see if you have enough to bring down your tax.

Everyone filing a return gets a deduction of about 10 per cent from his income for personal expenses, without asking and whether or not his expenses ran that much. You don't have to itemize anything.

This is called the standard deduction but the limit is $1,000 for a single person or a couple filing jointly. A couple filing separately can't claim any more than $500 each.

But if your deductible expenses run more than 10 per cent, then itemize so you can claim them all. You can itemize on form 1040 and on the new form, 1040W. You can't itemize if you use form 1040A.

Can Deduct Dues
For instance: you can deduct for union dues in professional societies, alimony payments by the person making them, fees to employment agencies, club dues if they are needed for business reasons, and books or newspapers bought for use in your profession.

You can cut your tax by excluding things like sick pay and subtracting dividend credits.

Sick Pay Deductions
If you were home ill only seven days or less, your pay is taxable. If you were home sick more than seven days you can deduct for every day thereafter up to $100 a week.

If you were home because of injury or were hospitalized for as little as one day, you can start excluding sick pay from the first day of absence without waiting out the seven-day period which applies to illness at home.

Since sick pay is really an exclusion, not a deduction, you claim it on line 3 of form 1040W or line 6 of form 1040. You can't claim it on the tabulating punch-card form, 1040A.

People who get dividend income from stocks in domestic corporations can exclude the first $50 they receive. You can exclude $100 if your wife owns the stock jointly with you and files a joint return with you.

Then there's something called dividend credits. This means: you can deduct 4 per cent of what's left of your dividends from your tax—after deducting the $50 or $100 just mentioned—on forms 1040 and 1040W.

Issue of Religion in Politics Will Be Eye

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Virginia's May Democratic primary is being watched by politicians as a possible test of whether religion will be a major presidential campaign issue. The subject may not be discussed openly, and other campaign issues will becloud whatever significance it may have in the voting result. But in an overwhelmingly Protestant state, the ballots will indicate to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) as others how much effect his being a Roman Catholic will have on his chances of winning his party's nomination. Kennedy is opposed in the Democratic primary by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in what amounts to a popularity contest. Humphrey is a member of the Congressional Church in Minneapolis and is associated member of the Methodist church in Washington.

West Virginians are reported to be almost 97 percent Protestant. There will be no substantial representation of Catholic voters as there was among Democrats in New Hampshire and will be in Wisconsin where Kennedy meets Humphrey in the April 5 primary.

Claims Necessity for Tax Reform

"The State of Illinois needs tax reform legislation," according to John K. Cox, secretary of legislation for the Illinois Agricultural Assn. Cox made his statement Friday night at First Methodist Church during a county policy program meeting.

The speaker also said that real and personal property representing one-third of Illinois wealth was responsible for the payment of over 60 per cent of the state's total tax bill during 1958.

A discussion, led by the speaker, was held on the policy of the state Farm Bureau that was formulated at the Illinois Agriculture Assn. annual meeting in November.

Receiving the most discussion were tax problems facing farmers throughout the state brought about by an increase in the tax rate of 264.42 per cent in the last 10-year period, while land value increased only 141.43 per cent during the same period was claimed.

Earl Eubanks, Logan Bureau secretary, reports farmers all over the state like to see legislation passed would plug up the loopholes in the present sales tax laws, would give the additional revenue needed to meet increasing and welfare costs in the state. It is feared that unless action of this type is taken, property owners will be taxed beyond their ability to pay, Eubanks said.

Cox also told of some of his experiences as a lobbyist for IAA in Springfield.

'Mister Roberts' Wins Reviewer's Plaudits at L.C.

"Mister Roberts," a comedy that presents a view of the Navy somewhat at odds with the recruiting posters, Thursday night satirized the Navy again as the play was presented by the Lincoln College-Community Players at the college auditorium. The actors gave a fast-moving, consistently funny show, ranging from broad burlesque humor to touching pathos.

"Mister Roberts" will be presented for the last time tonight, (Friday) at 8:15 at Lincoln College. Good reserved seats are still available and can be obtained by calling the college.

The stage setting of the comedy is remarkably nautical and practical. The deck of the U.S.S. AK 601, a dingy cargo ship, is shown by battleship gray pieces of scenery, complete with rivets. Entrances and exits are made through doors curved at the top and bottom to present the Navy "hatches," and specks of rust colors help make the stage represent a ship. The play's numerous scene changes are made by an ingenious system of hinges. Freshman Has Lead

Lincoln College freshman John DeVenne makes his debut in the title role. His portrayal of Lt. (j.g.) Douglas Roberts was considerably aided by his agile facial expressions which obviously reflected his feeling for the role.

Tom McCoy, a graduate of the college, portrayed the captain of a ship noted only for "hauling more tooth paste and toilet paper than any Navy ship in the safe area of the Pacific." McCoy's natural flair for comedy was well-suited for this play.

Dennis Carroll, as Ens. Frank Pulver, and Hank Lustgarten, as the ship's doctor, also gave excellent performances in their comedy roles.

Director Louis E. Catron assembled a good group for the crew of the AK 601. The enlisted sailors of the ship had a fine spirit of cooperation, exemplified by the way they all worked together. Individuals too numerous to mention contributed to the success of the comedy.

Although the play has 12 separate scenes, the Lincoln College-Community Players gave "Mister Roberts" a strong feeling of continuity so that the audience was never overly-aware of the complicated scene changes. Most changes were finished within 30 seconds, which contributed materially to the success of the play.

In his program notes, play Director Catron said he was especially grateful for the cooperation of the entire cast and stagecrew, as "it is this as a unit, working together, that is most outstanding. The members of the group have previously enjoyed their individual parts, which naturally made the audience members watching the show.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Whether

Farmers in Logan Check Conservation

Farmers cooperating with the Logan County Soil Conservation District are now checking their farm conservation plans to determine which practices they hope to accomplish this year, says Don Long, local soil conservationist.

By reviewing their plans now it is possible to accomplish first things first. Some conservation practice can be applied any time during the summer but the seeding of grasses and legumes are receiving first priority on many jobs this spring.

Seeding of waterways, terrace outlets, pasture improvement and seeding of meadow crops will come first on many farms.

Requirements Told

There are at least four basic requirements for the production of good grass crops. The first requirement is to determine the use to be made of the crop. If the decision is pasture, for example, then a combination of grasses and legumes designed for long life and adapted to soil conditions will give maximum performance and minimum disappointment.

The second requirement is a good seedbed containing adequate amounts of plant food. Grass crops of any kind cannot perform up to their capabilities on a starvation diet.

A third requirement is a good job of seeding. Too often, small seed like grasses and legumes are covered too deep. It takes these plants too long to emerge and if they do get above ground they find plenty of competition from weeds or other undesirable plants.

Management Needed

The fourth basic requirement is careful management. Long said. Grass and legume plants will tolerate considerable abuse from over grazing, heavy traffic from livestock and farm machinery. However, fertilizer needs to be applied regularly after the crop is established. Weed control by clipping or spraying is also necessary. A very important yet commonly neglected practice is to discontinue grazing during the early fall to allow good fall growth. This practice insures an early vigorous spring growth.

No other crop offers the farmer greater versatility. There are grasses and legumes available, singly or in combination, to serve for erosion control on sloping land; in-water courses, short term or long term pasture, hay or meadow crops, for soil improvement which serves in many ways to make it possible for sustained high yields of other crops at minimum cost.

Short Supplies Send Livestock Prices Higher in Chicago Market

CHICAGO — March continued to roar like a lion in the form of heavy snows which prevented livestock producers from marketing. The reduced supplies of livestock sent prices on some classes sharply higher again this week at the Chicago Stockyards. The wholesale meat trade showed advances also. The upward trend was a bit forced because of small volume.

The cattle market was uneven. Receipts were still under 40,000. Steers above the average choice grade sold 25 to 50 cents higher, while good and low choice steers sold 50 cents or more lower.

The top on strictly prime steers moved up to $33. The bulk of the prime offerings sold from $32 to $32.50. Stronger prices prevailed on mixed high choice and prime loads also. The bulk of these sold from $29 to $30.50. Steers of this grade weighing over 1400 lbs. were sold at $29. Average choice offerings, cashed from $26.75 to $28.50 to record gains of mostly 25 cents.

Pressure on Steers
The downward pressure of the market was on these good and low choice steers. Many of these

Slaughter heifers were steady to 50 cents higher on the top end, which includes the choice and prime grades. The remainder of the trade was extremely uneven with both lower and higher trends. A short supply of heifers at midweek was accountable for a good share of the advance.

Top heifers sold at $29.50 this week. Most higher choice and prime offerings sold from $27.75 to $29. Average choice heifers cashed from $26. to $27.50, while good and low choice sold from $24. to $26.

Cows and bulls showed advances of as much as 50 cents. The bulk of the cows sold from $15. to $18.50. Bulls sold from $23.25 and down. Yearlings remained unchanged from $34. and down.

Hog Prices Up
Hog prices once again made some substantial advances during this past week. The improvement in price was not confined to any one particular class or weight bracket as all kinds, including packing sows, would up selling 50 cents to $1. or more higher. We would mention, however, extremely adverse winter conditions were largely responsible for the advance.

$17.35, the highest price close to 9 months, with a close of the barrows and gilts in a narrow range from $16.75. Only the strictly high yielding light hog above $16.75, with $16.75, catching several of the consignments. Early in the these light hogs and b sold from $15.25 to $16. hogs weighing at the 270 lb or above sold from $15.50

The sow market continued work in a narrow price as light, medium and weight sows are now so a very narrow range from $13.50 to $14.50. Only the milky sows are cashing 1/2 down to $13.

Slaughter lamb prices advances on each of the sessions during the past with the top on the best lambs moving up to $23 most wools selling at $22 from $22. to $23.50. There double deck of 124 pound the trade at $23., and lambs as high as $22. grading good or below so $20.50 to $22. Slaughter enjoyed a steady trade from $5.

Humphrey Now Swinging

COLUMBUS, Wis. (P) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and his supporters for the Democratic nomination for president appeared today to have quit their polite comments about those who disagree with the Minnesota senator and have started swinging.

Humphrey toured the 2nd Congressional District, a rich southern Wisconsin agricultural area, Monday and made it plain he wasn't taking back anything he said previously about the farm voting record of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) his opponent in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary April 5.

The Minnesota senator also snapped back at Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) who had charged that Humphrey was performing a "disservice to his party" by what he claimed were unfair attacks on Kennedy.

The Wisconsin Farmers — for Humphrey Committee, headed by Burt Murch, a Chetek turkey raiser, also jumped on Proxmire, sending him a telegram asking him to apologize to Humphrey and retract his statement.

Dial Phone Speaker For Kiwanians Here

Dial telephone service, scheduled tentatively to begin in Lincoln next December, was explained for Lincoln Kiwanians at their Tuesday luncheon at Hotel Lincoln. Mel Hayford, division maintenance supervisor, used a dial demonstrator to show the mechanics of the new system. He is from Jacksonville.

His brief demonstration brought many questions from club members who showed particular interest in direct long distance dialing. Hayford said the installation of dial equipment on residence phones has been slowed here because of so many here working and not being at home.

Frank Misselhorn, local manager for General Telephone Co., presented Hayford and Weldon B. Frantz was program chairman.

Stock Market Lacks Trend

NEW YORK (H) — The stock market was mixed in moderate trading early this afternoon. Key stocks showed minor changes. It was the third straight session of a virtually trendless market.

A few encouraging items appeared in the general news background. A rise in machine tool orders portended industry's plans to step up production. Further easing of credit was reflected by another drop in the rate for U.S. Treasury bills. Construction activity was reported to be swinging upward.

Little response was shown by stocks, however, most major groups being narrowly irregular. The market was uneven from the start and continued with little in the way of buying or selling pressure.
