Phone Numbers to Change at McLean

With the Lincoln dial conversion Dec. 4, McLean telephone numbers will be officially changed.

F. W. Misselhorn, Lincoln district commercial manager, General Telephone Company of Illinois, said the new All Number Calling (ANC) will then be in effect. The Lincoln directory that McLean customers are now using will become obsolete and the McLean county directories delivered to McLean customers in August will be current.

"ANC will change the number of digits required to complete local calls", Misselhorn said. Instead of the four digits now dialed, it will be necessary to dial five digits. The first two digits "87" of the telephone number are required on all calls except local calls, he said.

After Dec. 4, in order to dial Heyworth, Armstrong, and Atlanta, McLean customers must dial all seven digits of the desired number. For example to dial Atlanta — Dial 648-xxxx; to dial Armstrong — Dial 649-xxxx.

McLean will get Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) in March, 1961.

Moving to Stop Gold

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has issued an order designed to force countries receiving U.S. aid to spend more of that money in the United States.

The order carries out one of a number of moves directed by President Eisenhower last month to reduce the flow of gold and dollars from the United States to other countries.

It does not force the countries to buy American goods but it forbids them to spend the money in most of the other Western industrialized countries.

The order, issued Monday, put 18 countries and the British colony of Hong Kong on the forbidden list for purchases with U.S. foreign aid money. The State Department said the United States considers them in strong economic shape.

The countries on the list are Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Monaco, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom.

Six Quizzed for Bomb D

NEW YORK — Six underworld characters were seized for questioning early today about the car-bomb death Thursday of Kenneth Feinberg, but police said afterward they learned nothing to link the men to the case.

However, all were charged with consorting with known criminals — presumably each other. They were arrested by officers in a lower East Side restaurant.

When taken into custody, police said only that they were to be questioned about "a recent gangland slaying."

Other sources indicated the motivating factor was the death of Feinberg, 26, killed by a dynamite bomb under his car. The victim triggered the bomb he turned on the ignition.

The blast in front of Forest Hills, Queens, shattered house windows and ed the street with metal.

Feinberg, who was sl worked as a trucker's hel years ago, and had he sters Union membership. Fox, sister-in-law of Mo who runs the Fox Truck said Feinberg was his last Monday by the Fox work as a checker.

Santa and the Boy Fish

SYNOPSIS: Michael has arrived in Santa Land in the midst of a crisis. A very old man named Costenbriker has put Santa's elves and reindeer to sleep. He refuses to awaken them until Santa produces a black pearl. Unless the elves are awakened, Santa will have no presents to deliver for Christmas.

CHAPTER SIX

The Sleeping Elves
"My elves never sleep at this time of year!" exclaimed Santa. "They have to work day and night or we'd never be ready for Christmas."

"They are asleep now," said Costenbriker, calmly tapping his parasol against his heel.

"It's true," cried Mrs. Santa. "I've seen them myself! Oh, his awful! He began to flap his apron more wildly than ever."

"Then I'll wake them!" said Santa crossly. "This will never do! He rushed from the house with Michael and Mrs. Santa at his heels and Costenbriker shuffling along ten paces behind."

Spies Claus Middlever.

"I don't believe it. I don't believe it," muttered Santa as he ran puffing through the snow drifts. But when he threw open the door of the workshop he saw it was true every little worker was fast asleep.

Michael stared about him in dismay. The doll makers lay limply among heaps of painted heads and rubber bodies looking themselves like dolls someone had forgotten to finish. The drum-makers slept curled in their drums. The firecracker experts made snoring noises as they snored at their benches.

Muffin, the whistle-maker, lay in a corner and snored as he breathed in and whistled as he breathed out. Toy wagons were loaded with napping elves and Gilbert, the still-maker, slept among the rafters where he dozed off while trying out some high stunts.

"Wake up, wake up!" cried Santa, running from table to table. He pounded on the backs of the sleeping elves, shook their shoulders, shouted in their ears. Nothing would wake them.

"What Have You Done?"

Santa turned on Costenbriker. "What's the meaning of this? What have you done?"

"He cast a spell," moaned Mrs. Santa. "He came in here and said some magic words and they all fell asleep. Oh, what's to become of us?"

"Now, now," said Costenbriker, settling down with a sigh into a high-backed chair.

"There's nothing to get overwrought about when you have gotten me my black pearl! I will say some magic words and all your little workers will wake up and do even better work for having had such a good rest."

"What would I get a black pearl?" demanded Santa. "It's the rarest gem in the world. Belongs To Me."

"I know where there is one," said Costenbriker. "It belongs to me."

"Then why do you come to me?"

"Because, unfortunately, my pearl lies at the bottom of the sea and I cannot swim and am too old to learn. But you can do anything, go anywhere, and so you can get my pearl!"

"What makes you think your pearl is in the ocean?"

"Costenbriker pulled a crumpled map from his pocket and pointed to an X which marked a spot in the ocean. 'That's where a ship sank on this very spot and treasure that was on her is on her still.'"

"How do you know that's true?"

"Because," said Costenbriker, twirling his parasol. "I was on the ship and the pearl was mine. When the ship went down I floated away in an empty keg."

Republicans Rebuffed by Court's "No"

CHICAGO (U) — Republicans, rebuffed by a state court in their effort to overturn John F. Kennedy's election victory in Illinois, today prepared to take their case to the friendlier territory of the GOP-dominated state electoral board.

Circuit Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski Monday dismissed two suits brought against the Democratic-controlled Chicago and Cook County election boards which asked that the boards' canvass results be altered in favor of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Lacking in Power

Judge Kluczynski upheld contentions of lawyers for the canvass boards that he lacked the power to change election results already certified and forwarded to the state electoral board. The results were certified two weeks ago.

Republicans plan to bring their charges of voting fraud and irregularities in Cook County before the state electoral board in Springfield Wednesday.

The chairman of the state board, defeated incumbent GOP Gov. William G. Stratton, has threatened to withhold certification of Kennedy's 27 electors should vote fraud charges be substantiated.

To Appeal Decision

Georges Dapples, lawyer for the Nixon Recount Committee, said he would appeal Judge Kluczynski's decision to the state Supreme Court or Appellate Court.

Meanwhile Republicans watched Cook County investigations of voting routines in hopes of gathering evidence to warrant an official recount. The GOP has until Dec. 22 to file recount petitions.

A special Cook County Grand Jury probe of vote fraud charges was to be resumed today as was questioning of Chicago election judges by members of the City Board of Election Commissioners.

Seals Behind Pace in 1959

Latest total tabulated on receipts of the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals shows the drive is running approximately $400 behind last year. The fund now stands at $5,158.65. Residents are asked to mail their contributions NOW, and use the seals on their Christmas mail and packages.

With all the modern and advanced methods of case detection, 4,220 active cases of tuberculosis were reported in Illinois last year.

Annually, since 1954, the number of new cases reported each year has been decreasing by approximately 8 per cent. However, based on provisional figures for the past 10 months of 1960, compared with the first 10 months of 1959, there has not been a decrease in newly reported active cases of tuberculosis during 1960.

Complacency regarding a check up for tuberculosis could cause a stalemate in any progress made thus far against the disease, it is claimed. Seventy-seven per cent of all the new cases of active tuberculosis being reported today are in the advanced and infectious stage. Tuberculosis should be found before a patient reaches this stage. Tuberculosis can be found early and safely through modern chest X-ray or the tuberculin test. The disease can be cured today by new drugs and surgical treatment which have been developed through medical tuberculosis research.

Touhy's Slay Remains

CHICAGO (U) — The gang style slaying of little Roger Touhy, tough prohibition era mob leader, remained as much a mystery today as it was when he was gunned down a year ago.

Touhy, 61, was slain Dec. 16, 1959, just 23 days after his release from Stateville Penitentiary, where he had served nearly 26 years for a kidnaping he said never happened.

Investigators are convinced the killing of Touhy was carried out by rival gangsters who waited more than a quarter century to exact vengeance on an old score. But they have been unable to find his killer.

Return Usual Verdict

After nearly a year of investigation, a coroner's jury ruled on Dec. 1 that Touhy was murdered by persons unknown, the usual verdict in such gang style slayings.

At least two men wielded shotguns that cut down the diminutive Touhy on the front steps of his sister's home on the West Side, where he had been living temporarily.

Walter Miller, a retired police sergeant and Touhy's longtime friend, was wounded in the shoot-

Police said at least five persons strolling through Munich's busy downtown section this pre-Christmas Saturday were killed by flying debris.

There were no indications of any survivors from the plane in early reports from the scene. Dense fog covered wintry Munich at the time.

Police gave the crash location as near St. Paul's church, corner of Bayer Street. There was no immediate confirmation available from the U.S. Air Force in Germany about the tragedy.

Santa and the Boy Fish

SYNOPSIS: Michael, wearing the diving mask, flippers and lung given him by Santa Claus, has located on the bottom of the sea the wreck of the ship carrying the black pearl. With the aid of the pearl, old Costenbricker can remember the magic words to awaken Santa's elves and reindeer in time for Christmas.

CHAPTER TWELVE

THE MONSTER OF THE DEEP
The sunken ship, tilted on its side, lay on the ocean floor, half covered by a hundred years of drifting sands. Three broken masts rose from the deck like blue phantoms in a silent blue world.

Michael scraped at the barnacles and sea moss encrusted on the bow. Slowly the letters ARADOON appeared.

With a quick thrust of his flippers he shot up to the surface and swam back to the cliff. He had gone a long way under water and it was sometime before he was close enough to shout.

"It's the ship! I've found her!" He waved his arms and thrashed the waves to attract attention. But there was no sign of Costenbricker high on the cliff. Michael grasped the rope that dangled in the water and tied it around his waist.

Receives No Answer

"Pull me up!" he shouted. But there was no answer from above. He yanked impatiently at the rope. Suddenly it tightened and slowly pulled him out of the water and up the side of the cliff. He was on the cliff just where you are sitting now.

"And he's here still," said the Monster and he patted the sea chest on which he sat.

"In -- in that box? But why?" "I have put him there," said the Monster, "because he is after my black pearl. After I have gotten rid of him I will get rid of you because even if you do not get the pearl you will tell others of it and treasure seekers will be coming here forever after."

"Not Your Pearl!"

"But it's not your pearl!" protested Michael. "It belongs to Costenbricker. He was on the ship when she sank!"

"Everything in the ocean belongs to me," said the Monster. "When the ARADOON sank she became mine and everything on her is mine."

He rose and began to shove the sea chest towards the edge of the cliff. From inside the chest came a muffled cry.

"Help! Help!"

"He can't swim!" shouted Michael. "He'll drown!" He threw himself on top of the chest.

Laughing, the Monster tossed

Ozarks Girl, 11, Asks City Cops to Help 'Find' Santa

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is a real Santa Claus, a little farm girl from the Arkansas Ozarks is out to find him. She has enlisted the aid of the New York City cops.

Coleta Burns, 11, has decided Santa either doesn't know where she lives, or he's dead. He hasn't called on her in a long time.

"Is there a real Santa in New York?" Coleta wrote in a letter to the Police Department. "You see, if there is a real Santa, he doesn't know where we live. I thought I would write a letter to him, and if he doesn't come this time, I know he must of died."

"mas at our house this year." Coleta added that she lives "five miles southwest of Viola, Ark."

"Will You Write"

"If Santa is dead," she concluded, "will you write and tell me?"

Viola is a town of 69 persons nestled in the foothills of the Ozarks. Wednesday night most of the town was in church singing Christmas carols. School Supt Max Harber was there, and he said, sure, he knows Coleta.

Bradley Blasts Cincinnati, 72-53: Braves Take 42nd Straight Home Triumph; Veterans Pace Victory

PEORIA, Ill. — At long last, Bradley, the nation's No. 2 team, appears ready to shed its role as runnerup in the Missouri Valley Conference and take over championship matters.

For the last four seasons, the Braves have finished second in the MVC — three times behind Cincinnati's Braves led by Oscar Robertson who has advanced to the pro league.

The Braves kayaked Cincinnati 72-53 last night in their conference opener and ran their string to 14 straight victories — eight of which have come this season. It was also Bradley's 42nd straight home triumph, dating back to Jan. 20, 1946, when Portland came through with an upset.

Bolestered by such veterans as Chet Walker, Al Saunders, Ed Wicks, Les Edwards and Mack Herndon — Bradley also has been gassed by such sophomore standouts as Tim Robinson and Walt Gerard.

Robinson paced last night's victory over Cincinnati with 20 points while Walker — averaging 25.7 points in the first seven games — was employed as an outside shooter and finished with 11 points.

Edwards poured in 16 points for the Braves and Saunders added 15, giving Bradley four men with double figures.

Paul Hogue and Tom Yates had 16 points each for Cincinnati, which varied its defenses but couldn't cope with Bradley's strength.

Cincinnati opened the game with a two-three zone defense in the first half which found Bradley leading 32-29. The Bearcats then switched to a man-to-man in the second half and met with little success.

The loss was the second straight in the MVC for Cincinnati, which lost to strong St. Louis in 51-40 in its conference opener. The St. Louis Billikens, who won the Kentucky Invitation Tournament this week by whipping both California and Kentucky in overtime, finished 7-1 overall record, and their duels with Bradley should decide the MVC championship.

Lebron Bell Leads Nation's Little School Scorers

By JOSEPH SWEAT
DAYTON, Tenn. — There once was a little, lanky kid who would slip into high school gyms at night, practice the free shots, and then a junior would run him out. Today he's the ace of small college basketball.

Lebron Bell, 19, forward for Bryan College, leads the nation's little school point — makers in latest statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau. He has a 35.4 average after eight games.

How is it, that a lad who never touched a basketball until his junior year in high school now leads the nation in scoring?

"Practice," Bell answers. And he did — once he found that he loved the game.

"I used to practice with the high school team, then go home and practice in the yard," he said.

"Then, at night, a friend and I would slide down the coal chute at some high school. We'd practice in their gym till the caretaker ran us out. Finally I had all the caretakers thinking I went to their school."

Bell actually went to Red Bank Tenn. High, just outside Chattanooga, in his senior year; he averaged around 15 points per game.

In college Bell began to show a real touch. In his freshman year at Hixson Junior College, he began to develop his stop and shoot jump shot, which is so fast opponents can't seem to get set for it. At the Maconville, Tenn. school he never went under 20 points in any game.

This year he transferred to Bryan.

EASY FOR ACH — Ohio No. 1 star, Jerry Lucas, shows you how easy it is to score during game with Loyola in Chicago. Ohio State is the nation's No. 1-ranked team, and still undefeated.

Soybeans Gain In Past Week

CHICAGO — In their fastest run-up of the year, old crop soybean futures posted five successive broad advances this week and finished with gains running to seven cents or more a bushel.

They were far ahead in a generally high trend with the January, March and May contracts hitting their highest levels of the season. The grains moved up a relatively moderate range of major fractions to around two cents.

The strong demand for soybeans appeared to be related mainly to the government's final crop report of the year which placed the 1960 yield at 538.5 million bushels. Although the figure was down only about 1 1/2 million from the November estimate, buyers soured it as many more than had expected an increase from the previous month.

Speculative participation in the trade continued to mount with the open interest climbing to another record high of more than 217 million bushels. A good deal of the additional trading also was linked with a prediction by an agricultural statistician that soybeans could bring substantially higher prices to producers later in the crop year in view of the outlook for a probable continued heavy domestic and export demand and a small carryover from stocks from last year.

Charging Small Fee At Skate Rink Here

A fee of 10 cents per person will be charged each half day for admission to the ice skating rink sponsored by the Lincoln Recreation Department at Central play ground. The half-day will end at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

The playground and recreation board appropriated $300 to the department to be used for the rink, but expenses have already reached the $200 mark because of the plastic, lumber, and labor. Once the $300 is spent, the rink will probably be closed unless financial assistance is received.

As soon as possible, the area will be flooded and the rink opened, depending how soon the ice is thick enough to support skaters. At the present time the department is trying to patch up the torn plastic caused by some unthinking youngster.

Newspaper Carrier Put on Bite in New Year's Poetry

Time was when the coming of a new year was the occasion for a dissertation—in verse—by newspaper carriers.

Paul L. Coddington, 702 Peoria St., has kindly shown the Courier the "New Year's Address by the Carrier of The Lincoln Herald—Tuesday, January 1st, 1861." In poetry, it is signed by Lewis Sturges and runs no less than 20 verses—in very fine print.

It would appear the "Address" was the carriers way of "putting the bite" on Herald subscribers. He says—"The Carrier Will Tell You the Whole For a Quarter," and adds—"Nor would he grumble, if instead of quarter you hand him a Half."

While reviewing the events of the just-ended year, the "Address" purports to hold up the possibilities of a new twelve month with—"The Year that approaches our own we can make—If Time by the forelook we wisely will take."

The outlook further admonishes—"Improve every moment our souls to expand—And diffuse noble principles over our Land—And so blessing others, ourselves we shall bless—And such is the aim of our present Address."

Federal Spending Likely To Be Increased in 1961

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam is opening his wallet wider and preparing to give the slumping economy an important lift in 1961.

As a matter of fact, increasing federal spending already has been a big factor in limiting the extent of the business decline.

But more important, the Eisenhower administration has set the pattern for continued increases during the new year. If anything, President-elect John F. Kennedy is likely to give the trend an additional boost.

Serves As Main Prop

Federal spending is the most important single prop under the economy. Federal programs account for better than 31 out of every $10 spent in this country for goods and services of all kinds.

The latest figures show that federal purchases of goods and services increased during July, August and September to an annual rate of $52.7 billion. In October, November and December the rate probably approached $54 billion.

"On the basis of the revised federal budget estimates issued in October, some experts here say the purchasing rate will climb to about $55 billion in the first three months of 1961. They predict a further advance to about $55.5 billion in April, May and June.

Possibly Conservative

These estimates may prove conservative. They do not take into account defense steps ordered vice. In addition, he has indicated he would urge bigger outlays than those now projected by the Eisenhower administration.

Always Involves Lag

As things now stand, increase in defense contracts late in 1960 portends a spending increase in the half of 1961.

There always is a lag between contracting and spending.

The new restrictions on overseas spending — designed to save dollars for the purchase of goods — could be used to buy American goods.
