Kennedy Program Told---

The President's economic policy recommendations and announcements included the following:

Social Security

Five improvements in benefits would begin on April 1, if Congress gives quick approval. They would be financed by taxing workers and employers an additional 1/4 of 1 per cent each starting on Jan. 1, 1963, when the next regular increase — of 1/4 cent each — is due to take effect.

The five proposals are: Raising the minimum old age pension from $33 to $43 a month; this would help more than 2.2 million persons in the first year.

Permitting men to start collecting retirement pensions at age 62, as women now may do. The pensions would be smaller than are available when payments start at age 65. This would benefit some 600,000 men, and save some men from going on the relief rolls, Kennedy said.

More For Widows
Increasing the widow's benefit from 75 per cent to 85 per cent of the amount of her husband's benefit. This would increase payments to 1,350,000 widows.

Broadening disability insurance. Such benefits are paid now only if the disability is expected to result in death or last for a long, indefinite period. Kennedy urged that payments start when the worker has been totally disabled for six months.

Liberalizing eligibility. Pensions may be paid now only if the retired person worked in jobs covered by Social Security in one quarter out of every four. Congress rejected a similar proposal last year.

Jobless Pay

The Kennedy plan would permit the states voluntarily to extend unemployment benefits, by using federal funds, to persons who have exhausted regular benefits since October '51.

The extension would equal half of the duration provided by the taxable payroll from the present maximum of $3,000 per employee to $4,800.

The permanent improvements in unemployment compensation — a separate program — will be recommended to Congress by the end of March, Kennedy said.

Minimum Wage

Besides the step-up in minimum wage to $1.15 and $1.25 in two years, Kennedy proposed that the "several million" new workers to be covered be brought in at a $1 minimum.

This wage floor would be increased gradually, he said, to the general $1.25 level.

Dependent Children

The government now provides aid for dependent children if their fathers are dead, disabled or have deserted the family. Kennedy asked Congress to amend the law to include "children of the needy unemployed."

Holding Youths For Break-ins

Two youths are in custody and three more are being sought today in connection with break-ins at Elkhart and Williamsville Wednesday night and today.

Night watchman Ted Hunter at Elkhart noticed a youth walking down the street at 2 a.m. today, he reported to Sheriff Joe Scanlon, and upon checking found a back window of Stahl's Tavern pried open.

Hunter reported to Chief Deputy Ken Zimmerman and Deputy Ken Simons that when he told the persons in the tavern to come out, they ran. One ran through a window in the front of the building.

State Troopers Gene Riley and Robert Kline, who were in the area, found two persons, Herman Strader, 21, and Fred Etchell, 17, both of Springfield, in a parked car by the library a block north of the tavern. Night patrolmen Albert Jones and Paul Rickord also helped in the investigation.

The two are being held and have implicated three others in the break-ins. At Williamsville the group broke into the Apo station and stole a typewriter and other items, it was reported.

Gov. Kerner Calls Situation Serious

Kerner explained that to be eligible for the extra 13 weeks of unemployment compensation benefits in the current situation, a person must not have exhausted his 26 weeks benefits before Feb. 8.

Under the law, the emergency program becomes effective automatically 15 days after the number of insured unemployed collecting compensation totals 4.375 per cent of 114,000 for two consecutive months.

The legal percentage was reached in December and January so the effective program date is Feb. 15.

See No Quick Drop

A quick drop in unemployment loads is not expected. Instead, joblessness is expected to rise in March.

Under the present law, only those persons are eligible whose benefits are exhausted within eight days before the start of any such emergency program.

Both Kerner and Williams said they would like to make eligible those persons whose normal 26 weeks benefits are exhausted within 90 days before any effective program date. Williams' bill also would drop the percentage figure down to 4.

The State Labor Department has estimated the extension to 90 days may cost about $10 millions in the current situation.

4-H Awards Set up For Thomas Scully

Sons and daughters of Scully tenants residing on farms in Logan County will have added incentive to participate in 4-H livestock projects this year. Michael John Scully has announced the authorization of the Thomas A. Scully Award.

To each son or daughter of a Scully tenant presently making his home on a Scully lease who exhibits livestock — hogs, cattle, sheep, and dairy animals — in the 1961 Logan County 4-H Club Show will be awarded $1, plus an amount equal to his club premiums.

This award will be made at the office of the Scully Estate, located in Lincoln. Livestock projects that a 4-H member may still enroll in and the latest starting dates are: Dairy and beef calves, May 1; advanced beef feeding, June 1; ewe lamb, June 1; and market hog feeding and gilt project, June 1.

The ground hog—or woodchuck—sleeps so soundly when hibernating that only a sensitive instrument can detect its breathing.

Suit Against G.E. Asks for $750 Millions

PEORIA, Ill. — Damages of $750 million are sought in a suit filed against General Electric Co., alleging injury as a result of rigged prices to 50 million consumers who bought GE products at retail.

J. Orion Brunk, a Peoria publisher, and Mrs. Mary Brown, a Peoria house wife, were named as plaintiffs in the suit filed Thursday in U. S. District Court.

But Jack A. Brunnenmeyer and Harry Sonnemaker, the Peoria lawyers who filed the suit, said it was designed to recover damages for all purchasers of GE products in the United States.

The suit was promptly termed "fantastic" and "preposterous" by General Electric in a statement issued through its New York headquarters.

Injury Alleged
The complaint asserted the plaintiffs had suffered financial injury as a result of rigged prices and asked triple damages.

The federal action is a follow-up to the recent conviction in Philadelphia of General Electric, Westinghouse, and other top electrical manufacturing firms in a government anti-trust action.

Rigging of bids for the electrical supply business of government agencies and private concerns were involved in the Philadelphia case. The Peoria suit affects retail purchases, principally of appliances.

Retiring With 36 Years "No Lost Time" for Utility

With 36 years service as fireman and senior engineer at the Central Illinois Electric and Gas co., Leon E. Douglas, 65, began his retirement Feb. 1. He leaves the utility company with a record of never having a lost time accident. This is a most enviable record and Douglas is to be congratulated for this fine performance.

Douglas was born in the vicinity of New Holland and moved to Lincoln in 1914. He presently resides at 640 Sixth st. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas have one daughter, Mrs. Raoul Rodgers, of Clinton, Ill., and a son, Eldred, of Lincoln. Mathis Rodgers, one of five grandchildren, is serving in the U.S. Army.

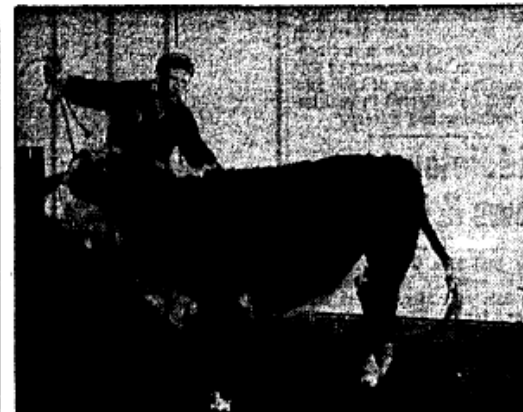

Outstanding memories of Douglas during his service with the company are the sleet storm of 1923 and the floods of 1926 and 1942. During the flood in 1926 he recalls working 72 hours without relief while helping to keep the plant in operation. One of the things he will never forget was the runway built, over the water which connected the railroad tracks with the plant. Coal was wheeled in by wheelbarrow from the tracks to keep the boiler going at this crucial time.

In retirement, Douglas will have time for his favorite pastime, fishing. He intends to spend his summers in Hardy, Ark. where he says "the fish are always biting."

Action Taken On Bad Checks

A program to deter the passing of bad checks and shop lifting has been approved at a meeting of the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. In other action retailers passed a resolution backing a United Fund for Lincoln and tentatively set up an agricultural appreciation day for mid-summer of this year.

City Detective Jim McCall presented a program to the group which would require strangers to be fingerprinted before checks will be accepted by retail merchants. A committee will be appointed to work with the police department on the project. McCall also outlined procedures for detecting and handling shop lifters.

In other action, the retail group set up four sales promotions for 1961 and adopted holiday closing dates and hours and a Christmas night opening schedule.

A self-improvement program was adopted which would provide educational meetings on better and merchandise displays, sales training and other fields.

A resolution was also passed commending the Chamber parking committee on its work. The committee recently made a concerted effort to encourage businessmen to express their views to the City Council on the Elm Park parking lot.

Roy Clapper was named chairman of the agricultural day project. Herb Alexander was named chairman of the improvement program. Other committee assignments announced by retail chairman Marvin Boss, Sr., are: Lew Horton, dollar days; Harold Dirks, other sales promotions; and John Charter, Christmas.

Reuther questioned whether tax incentives are needed to build new plants when so many are idled now. Goldberg told a Gary, Ind., audience that tax adjustments to let business modernize and rebuild plants and at the same time discourage location of plants abroad would be beneficial.

"I do not share the doubts of some labor leaders about the wisdom of this administration policy," Goldberg said.

But he said comment on Kennedy's plans from any source is a "healthy" thing.

San Paulo Looms as Beacon City for L.A.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(AP News Analyst)

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Communists and anti-Yankee followers of Fidel Castro have big trouble in Sao Paulo, because the Paulistas are the Yankees of Latin America.

Sao Paulo, full of bounce, is in the midst of a boom that can be braked only by problems of the federal Brazilian government.

Unless Brazil's runaway inflation interferes, Sao Paulo will be the beacon city of all Latin America, an example to all the rest of what people can do for themselves without depending upon U.S. taxpayers.

Then Nearly Broke

Six years ago, when Janio Quadros, Brazil's new president, took over as governor of Sao Paulo State, its capital was near bankruptcy. Quadros gave it an intelligent administration, although he lacked sufficient control of the city itself to mend old habits of graft and corruption.

Today this city of skyscrapers and buzzing energy claims a population equal to Chicago's and it is growing rapidly. Soon it is likely to outstrip Buenos Aires and become the largest city in Latin America.

There are about 5,000 American citizens living in Sao Paulo State, and Americans and American companies have invested a billion dollars here. That is two-thirds of the total U.S. investment in all Brazil. The Americans here constitute one of the largest overseas U.S. communities in the world.

Sao Paulo State is the financial center of Brazil. Its banks make 40 per cent of the nation's Industrial and commercial loans. It has Brazil's busiest port, Santos. It is the country's leading agricultural state. Its more than 26,000 industrial establishments employ a third of Brazil's industrial labor. It produces and consumes more electric power than any other Brazilian state.

Sao Paulo has less than 18 per cent of Brazil's population, but it contributes half the gross national product.

Paulistas are enormously proud that Brazil is producing its own motor vehicles. Brazil produced 134,598 in 1960, mostly in Sao Paulo. But the automobiles are priced so high that they are completely out of the export market. Heavy taxation and big profits make it hard for the domestic market to absorb them.

The landlord system still exists in the countryside. Many peasants live at subsistence levels. The state has a heavy steady influx of other peasants beating their way down from the extremely depressed northeast, and these increase the slums and poverty. There is still insufficient skilled labor because the city and state are expanding so fast that they outrun the supply.

CRASH AT CORNER

Weldon L. Newbold, 23, Springfield, and Thomas A. Tierney, 53, 1603 Pulaski st., were drivers of cars that collided at Logan and Fifth streets Sunday. No injuries were reported. James Seaman, 804 Short Eighth st., reported to police that his car was hit by an unidentified driver Saturday while the car was parked on S. Chicago street near Broadway.

To attack the problems and to make development of the state and its capital orderly, the state government under Gov. Carvalho Pinto has a long-range "plan of action," which contemplates pouring millions into projects in the next four years.

Evidences of Spring Raise Season Hopes

It shows on the calendar as officially beginning March 20. But there are increasing signs that the glad and green season may be arriving before that date.

Crocuses are pushing up through the ground at Lincoln homes; wild geese are winging north; the snow has all but disappeared, seed and bulb orders are being mailed off, and folks are "lightening up" on their heavier clothing.

The true "weather fan" is afraid to do much "shouting" about the current pleasant weather — for fear Winter will play a snappy return engagement and make him swallow his words. And he can't forget that a year ago there was plenty of snow flying after this date.

Perhaps the best way is to enjoy each day of the pleasant weather without worrying about what's to come. Trying to keep out of the mud also helps engage one's mind.

She was married to Edward Bahn Jan. 20, 1915, and he survives as do six sons, Lloyd of Las Vegas, Nev., Albert of Chestnut; Leland of Peoria; Vernell of Lincoln; Vernell and Byron of Chestnut; a daughter, Mrs. Erma Baker of Creve Coeur; three sisters, Mrs. Lucetta Puff of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Essie Treck, Mrs. Ethel Conner, all of Dayton Ohio; and 10 grandchildren.

Stocks Move Higher Today

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market overcame irregularity and moved to the upside in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 232.60 with industrials up 1.60, rails up .20 and utilities down .10.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among pivotal issues.

The list spurred in a wave of heavy trading after House Speaker Sam Rayburn emerged from a conference with President Kennedy and said the need to fight recession was more urgent than at any time since the depression 1930s.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines, electronics, and electrical equipments were on the upside. Chemicals, utilities, tobaccos, drugs, and oils were mixed.

Stocks Take Uptrend Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, motors and aircraft-missiles rose as a churning stock market moved ahead on balance in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .50 at 234.00 with industrials up 1.40, rails up .10 and utilities down .10.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losers. A few stocks took sharp losses.

The rise was a ragged affair featured by bursts of very active trading.

Attention to fighting the recession was focused by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg's estimate that three million more Americans will suffer long-term unemployment in the next 13 months and his plea that Congress pass President Kennedy's bill to extend jobless benefits. The anti-recession theme continued to have an inflationary ring in Wall Street's ears.

Oils, utilities, and chemicals were mixed. Electrical equipments declined. Tobacco and drugs advanced.

Recount Changes in First Month of JFK

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELI, MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — President Kennedy wound up today in the muddy, thawing Virginia countryside the first month of an administration that has swerved sharply from the domestic path of the old one.

In the handling of foreign affairs, the break with policies of the Eisenhower administration has been less pronounced. Yet Kennedy definitely has set out on a challenging course to court Asia, Africa and Latin America and bring them more solidly to the side of the West.

With Snowy Background
It was just a month ago, in a national capital floundering under a massive snowfall, that Kennedy was inaugurated president.

Today, the chief executive was closing out his first month in office in the seclusion of Glen Ora, the 400-acre estate he has rented in the heart of the Virginia fox and hound country. He returned to the White House before noon.

Kennedy sent to Congress today an aid to education bill. His idea is that the federal government should provide financial help both for classroom construction and salary payments to teachers. The matter is a departmental matter of Indian Point Cemetery association.

ANNUAL SALE SET

WAYNEVILLE — The Annual Community Sale sponsored by Wayneville American Legion will be Saturday at 11:30 a. m. on the ground south of the grade school. The Auxiliary will serve lunch in the village council room.

parture from an Eisenhower policy that frowned on assistance with salaries.

But Kennedy since the start of his administration has been departing from the course his predecessor preferred. This has shown up, as campaign pledges foreshadowed, in his programs to combat need, unemployment and slumping business. It turns up in his plan to provide medical care for the aged through the Social Security system.

Evidence in Two Ways
The change is apparent in the Kennedy cancellation of an Eisenhower administration restriction on troops having their families with them overseas.

It is evident, too, in the order Kennedy issued within his first 24 hours on the job for distribution of more food to the needy hungry Americans.

In the realm of military might, the new President quickly decreed a strengthening of the missile, Polaris submarine and airlift programs.

All in all, Kennedy has put on a display of energy and action in the White House that hasn't been paralleled for many a day. Along with this, he has made a definite, distinct imprint on social life in Washington and Middleburg.

King of Laos Takes Peace Steps

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — King Savang Vathana has proclaimed a policy of nonalignment for Premier Boun Oum's Western-backed government and asked three neutralist neighbor nations to send a commission to confirm that Laos wants to live in peace.

Stocks Active, Higher Today

NEW YORK (AP) — A selective advance pushed the stock market higher in active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 at 236.60 with industrials up 1.30, rails off .10 and utilities down .20.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among pivotal issues.

Hard Days of 30s Come Back

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A family living on potatoes; hungry people stealing cattle; a new wave of jobless migrants; mounting relief.

A chapter out of the hard days of the 30s?

No, it's part of California, 1961, as depicted in a state report on effects of the recession.

State social workers surveyed 13 of the 58 counties the week of Feb. 5. Their findings were released by Gov. Edmund Brown without comment.

The report said:

"In all counties checked, unemployment is substantial and increasing.

"In all counties it is greater than it was a year ago and some report it was the worst since the depression of the 1930s."

No figures were given in the report. Statewide unemployment was 517,000 in January, an increase of 63,000 or about 14 per cent from December.

The 517,000, reported is the largest January figure in a decade and represents 8 per cent of the covered work force.

Irving Perluss, state director of employment, however, says the statistics haven't "started snowballing downhill." He said he hopes, but can't guarantee, the recession has about reached bottom.

Perluss said, "The important thing for us to do is not to hold our heads in our hands; but to do something to create jobs."

Glove Compartment Poorly Named

By RON SHAWGO

Do you have any gloves, or at least one glove in your "glove compartment?"

I don't and a check shows no one else does either. So why should they be termed "glove compartments?"

By definition, a glove is: a cover for the hand. Now, a compartment is: a separate division or section. So, if I may add the word "for" between the definitions of glove and compartment, we have: glove compartment; a separate division or section for a cover of the hand.

Badly misnamed, they are still "glove compartments" but very useful. A few necessary articles found in mine and others: pair of sunglasses; two pencils; one napkin with seven names and addresses of the female species; new car advertisement; newspaper with pictures of a 1960 graduating class; advertisement for china; box of pipe filters, with one missing; can of lighter fluid;

A broken stemmed-pipe with the missing filter inside the stem; comb; car owner's manual; help wanted column; another pencil; index cards; small notebook with two notations concerning gasoline purchases three months ago; tin of cigars too strong for the owner to smoke; a scattering of hand-out cards from a car dealer; a battery warranty, for a battery which, if still in use is nine years old; nice spring for something; remains of a dilapidated whisk broom; three books of green stamps and a screwdriver.

One driver had nothing in the contraption.

Despite all this, this traveling wastebasket has the nerve to hang onto the title of "GLOVE COMPARTMENT."

Practical Nurses in Favor of Code Change

Mrs. Mildred Logan of Lincoln, president of Division Six of Licensed Practical Nurses association of Illinois and a member of the state board of directors, will attend a meeting of the board Wednesday in Decatur.

The group has voted to sponsor an amendment to the State Nursing Act which would prohibit anyone from practicing practical nursing without a license. Under the present Nursing Act, practical nursing can be practiced without a license. (John Bird also has an license from the state.

Under the present law, licenses to practical nurses are issued after passing a state examination. In order to be eligible to take the exam, a person must have completed the course of study in one of the 17 approved schools of Practical Nursing located in the state. The association does not propose a change in the provisions of obtaining a license.

Mrs. Logan states that the association feels that mandatory licensure of practical nurses would be in the public interest since by such a law, the public would be assured of a practical nursing service by persons with the training now required for licensure.
