Letter Box

Thanked by V.F.W. May 31, 1961
Lincoln, Illinois

Mr. John L. Nugent,
Lincoln Daily Courier
Lincoln, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Nugent:

On behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 1756 and Auxiliary, Mrs. Ruth Tumulty, chairman, and myself wish to take this opportunity to thank you for all the publicity which was given to our recent Buddy Poppy campaign. Without the publicity and the picture that was taken, the sale of the Buddy Poppies wouldn't be the success that it is.

The more poppies we sell, the more it helps us in our rehabilitation and only through publicity can a lot of this be accomplished. Once again, we wish to express our sincere thanks.

Very sincerely yours,
Al Langenshain, Chairman
V.F.W. Buddy Poppy Drive

Greater Lincoln Ahead - Swesey

Predicting unparalleled growth for Lincoln in the coming 10 years, Hal Swesey in a talk for the Lincoln Kiwanis club at Hotel Lincoln Tuesday, urged — "Make no little plans; have no little thoughts; be imaginative and not negative."

The potential is here for great growth, Swesey said, citing the fact that future growth is well founded on what has been achieved in the past. Such expansion will come, Swesey declared, because of "desire, good leadership and hard work." He asserted Lincoln is superbly located and "we can make it what we want it to be if we'll just pitch in."

The Chamber, said its secretary, has been busy discovering leadership. Still another bureau, that for developing civic pride, is being started with its initial meeting on Monday evening. Daniel E. Klunk, a Kiwanian, is chairman.

The Lincoln booster urged that "we be conscious of and appreciate what we have." With more taking an active part, Swesey pointed out, "we can make Lincoln the best city in Illinois." He cited the large expansion of jobs and payroll here since in 1942 and pointed to the new high school and Cutler-Hammer plant as among examples of construction. Program chairman was Jack Simons.

Hugh Knochel, who chaired the recent Kiwanis pancake feed, presented a $400 check to Jim Knochel, Recreation Youth chairman, to go into a fund for a new recreation center. Boy Scouts and the Circle K club at Lincoln College will also share in the profit.

There will be no club luncheon Tuesday, June 13. That evening Kiwanian and their families will have a family picnic at Memorial Park. Sec. Jim Morley read a letter of appreciation from Suzanne Ellis, who received one of the club's music proficiency medals at the junior high school.

hurts. There is a bright new day and week ahead. It is awaiting YOUR specific gifts, good cheer.

July 24 to Aug 23 (Leo) — "Getting ahead of yourself" in certain matters that require more concentration and closer detail should be checked. Also observe where "small" pitfalls could enlarge with carelessness.

Aug 24 to Sept 23 (Virgo) — May have to pull up short, stop in the middle of something you especially (or by habit) want to finish. Do what is proper NOW, not merely what you have always done; it may not fit TODAY. Be sensibly elastic.

Sept 24 to Oct 23 (Libra) — Especially high are graciousness (one of your innate assets), patience at exasperating moment or situation, and aiming to understand others' line of thought. Bolster hope, faith.

Oct 24 to Nov 22 (Scorpio) — Rule day with foresight, studying improved ways, suggestions for bettering any, even the smallest, condition. These are times for strengthening the good from top to bottom, with courage.

Nov 23 to Dec 21 (Sagittarius) — One day you will not have a certain something you were used to a long while. We all experience this. But every day we can do a finer job, and not have to say, "I'm sorry." Dispel ill will. Eye Out for Loopholes.

Dec 22 to Jan 20 (Capricorn) — Look for the loopholes that permit misuse of the worthwhile; work on correctable errors. Shun those who pass on rumor; stay close to your affairs, permitting others same chance.

Jan 21 to Feb 19 (Aquarius) — Where you can eliminate waste motion and time-consuming errands or chores, do so. Also, don't keep a strained pace, which now tempts. Conduct business cautiously; have all facts.

Feb 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — It isn't how much you can accomplish in one day, week, or other allotted time, but how well you do things according to YOUR abilities. Note trends, follow the really progressive; use your initiative.

YOU BORN TODAY are sensitive but will forget hurts to get busy on the more important matter of making something worthwhile of life. This is laudable; if you develop your finest self, there will be no limit to your capacity and wonderful gains, and making others happy. Your vital mission:

To improve everyone's lot, and do it by bright, swift moves, often sweeping changes. Don't throw over anything old of worth unless SURE of a better thing or why; pray for guidance, you will lead a grand life. HOMECOMING

The Tom Hale family has returned to "home sweet home" after being flooded out at Lincoln Lakes in May. It has taken the intervening time to get their "house in order."

The three and a half feet of water in the home resulted in damage necessitating replacing the walls, floors and carpeting. The damage also required a "new lawn." The Hales were "away" for six weeks while "amends" were being made, moving out four days after the rain-caused flooding began. Four weeks after the flooding the water still was three cement blocks deep.

The family recalls that in February, 1959, it also had flood water up to 8 inches. That time it receded quickly, however.

Dennis H. Scheuler, 17, Victim

MT. PULASKI — Logan county's traffic toll was doubled this morning when Dennis H. Scheuler, a 17-year-old Mt. Pulaski High School boy was burned to death in a blazing inferno on State Highway 54 that just moments before 8:15 a. m. Friday was a Chevrolet Corvair.

Because the conflagration was so intense, rescuers could not reach the injured lad until the flames had subsided and the demonished vehicle became a macabre funeral pyre.

Corvairs are unique in that the engine is in the rear of the car and the gas tank is in front. It was the gasoline from the ruptured tank that kept feeding the flames.

COMING FROM FARMER CITY
Young Scheuler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scheuler of Mt. Pulaski, was an employee of the Minnesota Tool Co. there. He was returning from Farmer City where he had been on business and the car he was driving was owned by William Prather, owner of the tool company.

According to a statement from Sylvester Vahlkamp, 36, of Mascoutah, Ill., driver of the huge Transamerican Freight Lines truck that was involved in the fatal tragedy on State 54, about a half-mile northeast of Tomlinson's Siding, young Scheuler was attempting to pass another car going in the same direction.

He evidently was not aware that Vahlkamp's big truck was approaching from the opposite direction.

Vahlkamp thought he might have been going about 50 miles an hour and he recalled from his hospital bed at St. Clara's that just prior to the crash he had noted that speed on his speedometer.

In the brief moment, while the huge truck was bearing down on the small Corvair, Vahlkamp swerved his truck to the shoulder and Scheuler must have had the same thought in his frightful panic and attempted to scoot over to the shoulder for safety.

The point of impact was on the shoulder and skid marks from the truck showed it had been on the shoulder for over 100 feet. It came to rest more than 10 feet off the concrete and the front wheel carriage from the Most prices showed fractional changes as trading became progressively duller. The stock exchanges will be open on Monday but many Wall Streeters were obviously preparing to make this a four-day weekend.

Fiery Crash Is Fatal

trailer section were hurled even farther into an adjacent corn field.

CAR BACK ON HIGHWAY

From all indications at the scene, the tiny Corvair was hurled back onto the highway where it exploded. Vahkamp, who was injured in the crash, attempted to extinguish the inferno with his truck's fire extinguisher, as did others, but use of the extinguishers was futile. Ambulances were called from Mt. Pulaski and the fire department from there also helped put out the blaze before the charred body, burned beyond recognition, could be removed.

Vahkamp, who is married and the father of two children, was rushed to St. Clara's hospital in Lincoln by Trooper Wilbur Baker, one of the investigating Highway patrolmen. He was conscious enough there, to give a statement to the officer and the press about the accident. His condition is not critical.

Cpl. Robert McKay, also a patrolman who remained at the scene handling the influx of traffic and supervising the removal of the smoldering wreckage, said that the accident was one of the worst highway burnings he had seen.

Sheriff Joseph P. Scanlon and County Coroner John Barry investigated the fatal crash for Logan authorities.

PASTOR AT SCENE

Identification of Scheuler's body was made by his ring, car keys and the Catholic medal around his neck. The medal played a rather bizarre role in the tragedy.

When onlookers noticed the cross about the youth's neck, the Rev. Father Edward Krewer, were administered over the pitiful and charred remains before the body was removed from the pyre.

Father Krewer was the boy's pastor.

The Rev. Father O'Toole, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church in Lincoln, was also hurriedly rushed to the scene when it was determined that the victim was of the Catholic faith and he assisted Father Krewer.

The body was taken to Schahl's Funeral home in Mt. Pulaski and arrangements for burial were not completed yet, awaiting word from relatives in Fairbury, Neb. The youth is survived by his parents and two sisters, Barbara, at home and Mrs. Phyllis Howe, also of Mt. Pulaski. His grandmother Scheuler lives in Nebraska.

Logan county's highway death record now stands at two, the initial 1961 fatality occurring at Elkhart on March 22 where Mrs. Grace Lercher was killed.

The accident got the July Fourth holiday carnage on Illinois highways off to an early start. Actual counting of highway fatalities will not begin until sunset Friday on "Operation Night-watch" and it will end at sunrise next Wednesday.

Seventeen deaths are anticipated on Illinois highways during this period.
