'Bookworms' Bust at Lib

Worms are an annoyance to farmers and horticulturists and there are all kinds of worms: grub worms, angleworms, caterpillars, etc. But the little bookworms are a joy to Claire Kresse at Lincoln Public Library.

Participation in the Book Worm Club, which is the vacation reading program at the Library, has been going on for two full months. This group of more than 150 has been diligently and quietly putting a coat on the bookworm, or caterpillar as some of the children call it.

The full month ahead will be devoted to continued reading and there will be a picnic for the faithful readers.

Since the group is so large it will be divided into two sections.

Invitations are already in the hands of group one. Those who have not picked up their invitations at the Library are in group two. The picnic for this group will be Wednesday Aug. 16, at 2 o'clock at the Library. In case of rain the children will come the next day, Aug. 17 at the same hour.

There will be a later notice of a picnic for the Book Paraders and the Science readers.

Diving Mule Trainer, Former Race Driver Entertain Kiwanis

Johnny Rivers, who trains the sensational mule diving act; and Pat Flaherty, who is "go karting" at the Logan County Fair, gave a thoroughly enjoyable program for the Kiwanis club luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Lincoln. Kiwanian Wilbur E. Layman, who chaired the program.

Rivers, reared in Father Flanagan's Home in Nebraska, was impressed as a boy by a horse diving act he saw in an Omaha park not far from the Flanagan Home. In fact it led him first to the horse diving, then the mule diving business and in late years it's paying off handsomely.

Only female mules are used, Rivers informed, and added that confidence on the part of the animals that they will not be harmed and that they will be rewarded is the "secret of success." One of the major problems is to get the animals out of the tank after they have jumped. He reviewed many of his experiences in a most interesting manner.

Flaherty, who drove the winning machine in the 1956 Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile race, said teamwork on the part of the driver, and pit and other crews, and the car owner spells success. A native of Chicago, he obtained his hard-knocks racing experience on smaller tracks before moving up to the "big one." He first tried at Indianapolis in 1950 — finishing 10th. In his 1955 driving he set a four-lap speed record.

"I talk more and drive less now," Flaherty joked. He said safe stops, dependent in large degree on tires, are a major factor in race driving. "I find go-karts much safer," Flaherty cracked. He was injured several times, once seriously while driving a Springfield.

dence worthy of a great power." The inter-American conference now in progress in Uruguay is of vital significance to development of needy countries of the Western Hemisphere, Kennedy said, and this country should avoid rocking the boat by getting "so over excited" about aircraft hijackings on the basis of information "which is faulty or incomplete." During the news conference, lasting little more than a half hour, Kennedy also spoke on these other subjects:

Nuclear—The panel which he assigned the task of determining whether tests can be conducted without revealing the fact through earth shocks has turned in a highly classified report. But Kennedy said he could disclose that its findings have made him feel "more urgently than ever" that an inspection system as proposed by the United States and Great Britain is essential to any nuclear test ban agreement.

Asked if Dean's mission to Geneva would be this government's last try at reaching agreement, Kennedy said the Soviet attitude would be immediately apparent by its response.

"We will try always if there is any genuine hope of success," Kennedy added. "But as I have indicated, this probably is a decisive meeting, because we will now find out whether there is any prospect of bringing an end to nuclear testing."

Space—United States is now spending as much in personnel and money as it can on space programs without reaching a point of diminishing returns, the President said. He expressed hope, however, that the rate of U.S. space progress can be accelerated.

Kennedy said he is satisfied in his own mind that the U.S.S.R. has placed two men in global orbit.

And he said this country cannot permit another nation whose attitude toward us may be hostile to stay ahead.

Furthermore, Kennedy said the United States would act in the United Nations General Assembly this fall toward achieving an international agreement on the use of space.

German—Kennedy said the United States has not attempted to encourage or discourage the flight of thousands upon thousands of East Germans through the West Berlin escape hatch to the free world.

He said the movement from East to West is of concern to the Communists because it presents "rather illuminating evidence of the comparative values of the free life and open society and those in a closed society, under the Communist system."

Forums—Kennedy was asked about the controversy which grew from a memo that Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), sent to secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara protesting the role of military officers in public forums which the senator said have distorted their declared objective of educating Americans on the Communist menace.

The President said the Constitution wisely keeps the military out of politics. A problem will always exist, he went on, in enabling military men to express their views on great problems while keeping them out of political life and maintaining civilian control over the armed forces. But he said the National Security Council should clarify the directive on which the military services have based their educational programs.

College Student Admits Chicago Synagogue Fire

Police said Wednesday a youth which destroyed the main auditorium. Damage was estimated by Rabbi Harold P. Smith at $200,000.

Friedman said he was a student at Lincoln (Ill.) Junior College.

Police said Friedman gave no reason for setting the fires. Led through a re-enactment of setting each blaze, police said, the youth showed how he started the fires with matches and rags after ascertaining there were no people in the buildings.

"Was Goofy Thing"

Confronted by the pastor of the Baptist church he said he set afire, Friedman was quoted by police as saying: "I'm the culprit. I burned your church. It was a goofy thing to do."

Detectives said they first questioned Friedman after witnesses told them he was at the scene of at least two of the fires, talking excitedly about them and, in one case, even guessing out loud how an arsonist would have entered the building.

FAIR NOTES

Mrs. Henry Behrends of New Holland received the Logan County Fair Silver Anniversary award as the 1961 Fair rolled to a close late Thursday night.

The last nighter crowd was the largest in Fair history—all seats were taken and even standing room was at a premium.

There were so many automobiles that all parking space, including the infield, was gone. So drivers were directed to park their machines on the track. Getting out of the crowded grounds tried the patience of even the most calm drivers and there were a few fender benders.

A threat of rain hung over the closing night as clouds hovered and lightning flashed to the south. Reports circulated there was a storm coming and that there was heavy rain between here and Decatur. But the rain did not materialize and the Fair was able

Park District Query-Answer Outlines Info

Tuesday, the people of Lincoln go to the polls to decide whether Lincoln shall have a Park District. The proposed Park District would be governed by five non-paid commissioners whose responsibility it would be to maintain existing parks and develop new park areas.

Spokesmen for the Park Planning Commission express concern over several questions which have come up in recent discussions.

1. Why are there just five park board commissioners? Answer: This number is set by State law.

2. Will these commissioners receive any salary? Answer: No, said commissioners will serve without pay as do members of school boards. (This is a state law.)

3. How much will the Park District cost the taxpayers? Answer: Only $2.33 for each $100 paid in taxes, based on a total tax bill of both personal property and real estate taxes. This figure of $2.33 is not based on assessed valuation.

4. How much money will the park district receive annually? Answer: The above rate is fixed by state law and presently, at the maximum, can provide about $27,000 annually.

5. Is this the best way to meet the current park problem? Answer — Yes, this is the best and most efficient method. There are more than 160 cities in Illinois with park districts.

6. Who is pushing the proposed Lincoln park district? Answer — There is widespread interest among service clubs, labor groups, fraternal groups, sororities, church groups, lawyers, ministers, teachers, businessmen, wage earners, housewives, and both candidates in the last mayoral contest. All are helping to promote the best method of maintaining Lincoln's parks, it is claimed.

INSTANT

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese firm is marketing what it calls "the world's first automatic shaving device" — an electric razor that hums for five minutes when a 10-yen (2-8 cents) piece is dropped in the slot.

The company, Shinano Brothers, says the device, complete with sanitizing attachment, is designed for offices, factories, hotels, waiting rooms and public baths to meet the "current trend of the instant mood."
