Coal Industry Will Mechanize Comeback

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The world's largest land machine, a 14-million pound stripping shovel being erected on a coal seam in Kentucky, symbolizes a resurgence in the once mighty coal industry. In its comeback fight, coal is placing a premium on mechanization. In the following article, hopes and fears are analyzed as the historic industry embarks on a new era.)

By ROGER LANE
NEW YORK — In a kingsized hole outside Paradise, Ky., workmen are assembling 300 railroad carloads of parts into the world's biggest mobile land machine.

It's a 220-foot high, 14-million pound coal stripping shovel set on what amounts to four jumbo tractors.

Every 55 seconds, the colossal shovel by mid-1962 will be able to gouge up a third of a million pounds of earth, swing it 1½ city blocks away and dump it at the height of a 15-story building.

Operated by Levers
A single man, perched in an air-conditioned chamber 60 feet off the ground, will operate it by working two hand levers and two foot pedals.

The monumental tool, spectacular in itself, is more important

200,000 by-products of bituminous coal, relatively few of them marketable, but surely many more than are known today.

Stands as Symbol
As a symbol, the mammoth electric shovel going up outside Paradise stands for the mechanization of mining throughout the coal fields.

In shaft mining, the extraction of coal from veins lying hundreds of feet underground instead of close beneath the surface as in stripping, the machines necessarily are smaller. But they're no less ingenious.

One of the latest, called the "Pushbutton Miner," claws up and rips coal from its lodgings with revolving steel teeth, that automatically move back and forth, up and down "scanning" the face of the coal seam and steadily boring ahead.

Less automated but still complex machinery in widespread use has virtually doubled productivity in coal mining since 1950.

Production on Increase
Since 1950 when automation of the mines hit top speed, productivity has jumped from under 7 to over 13 tons a man per day. It is expected to climb to 19 tons a man-day by 1970.

Brothers Rescued

BRAINTREE, Mass. (AP) — Stephen Lyon, 13, inched out on the ice of Montauk River toward a hole 10 feet from shore where brothers David and Mark Barry struggled in the water.

Carefully Stephen extended a hand, seized Mark, 8, and lifted him to firm ice. A moment later he hauled David, 11, to safety.

The three boys had been coasting on the ninth fairway at the Braintree Municipal Golf Club. Mark's sled coasted onto the ice at the bottom of the hill and dropped into the hole. As the younger brother clung to the edge of the ice, David went to his aid and slipped in, too.

Stocks Rise, Then Slump

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market began its 1962 career by backing away from an early rise and showing a mixed pattern in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 262.70 with industrials off .40, rails up .50 and utilities up .10.

Most key stocks showed gains or losses running from fractions to about a point.

Some of the motors and aerospace issues remained well ahead but initial gains by other sections of the list tended to melt away as trading slackened.

Steels were mixed. Bethlehem held a fractional gain. U.S. Steel dipped moderately.

Chrysler was up about a point while Ford and American Motors gained fractions. General Motors eased. Studebaker-Packard dropped a fraction.

General Dynamics advanced more than a point, Douglas Aircraft and Boeing around a point each.

Traffic Deaths in Logan Down in '61

Although traffic fatalities for the state in 1961 showed an increase of 77 over the previous year, Logan county showed a drop from 11 in 1960 to five in 1961. Lincoln reported one traffic fatality in 1961 with the remaining four being in the county.

The five fatalities resulted from a wide variety of causes, one from a car-train collision on U.S. 54, two from two-car collisions, one in Lincoln and one on Rte. 66, with the final fatality resulting in an Atlanta farmer apparently suffering a heart attack while at the wheel of his pickup truck and smashed into a tree.

The above facts were supplied by Logan County Coroner John Barry who reported a total of 41 inquiries conducted during the year. One suicide, a drowning and a traffic fatality which occurred in McLean county, but the victim succumbing a local hospital, were included in the 41 inquiries.

Stock Market Turns Steady

NEW YORK (U. S. — The stock market steadied and showed some minor improvement in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 at 261.10 with industrials up .30, rails up .50, and utilities unchanged.

The rise was irregular, with gains in the fractions-to-a-point range outnumbering losers.

The list was a bit higher on balance at the start, seemed about to generate a stronger rally for a while, then relaxed with a slight upside advantage.

Gains among aluminum, aerospace issues, oils, rails, steels, and coppers kept the list higher.

Airlines were mixed despite a 3 per cent fair boost estimated to add $54 million annually to trunkline revenue.

The aircraft-missile stocks were helped by further news of defense contracts. Motors were narrowly mixed. Tobaccos were mostly lower.

Motoring Habits Being Changed by Interstate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Growth of the interstate highway system in Illinois is changing motoring habits of thousands of Illinoisans.

Although the interstate network in Illinois is only one-third complete, a spot check shows there has been a significant shift in traffic from the old two-lane highways to the interstate routes now open to motorists.

A recent survey between Champaign-Urbana and Danville, for example, showed traffic on U.S. 150 dropped 75 per cent after the opening of Interstate 74.

Interstate 74 and U.S. 150 are parallel routes between Champaign and Danville, a distance of more than 30 miles. The highways are located within one-half mile of each other.

Before Interstate 74 was opened in October 1960, U.S. 150 carried an average of about 4,000 vehicles daily.

Interstate 74, meanwhile, not only picked up the 3,000 vehicles difference but added about 1,300 more, the traffic count showed.

The study indicated that motorists are not only seeking interstate routes for necessary trips, but are traveling because the super highways are available, says Director William J. Payes of the Department of Public Works and Buildings.

Called Major Attraction

Freedom from traffic congestion, which enables motorists to travel with time-saving ease, is a major attraction of the four-lane highways, Payes said.

As of now, Illinois has constructed about 580 miles of the state's proposed 1,586-mile interstate network. An additional 125 miles is under construction and 94 miles of interstate roads are included in the 1962 road program.

How do highway officials determine which sections of interstate highways should be built first?

Interstate 74 between Danville and Champaign-Urbana was given top priority because of the size improvements would been necessary on U.S. meet traffic demands.

To Serve as Link

Another route receiving is Interstate 80, which will link Chicago and the Island-Moline areas via Have interstate routes economic impact on the nities they serve?

Payes said it is difficult how much communities, as a result of being se interstate highways. In nstances, however, indust urban developments has stimulated by construction highways.

Yates to Oppose 'Pussyfooting'

CHICAGO — Rep. Sidney Yates says he will not allow Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to "pussyfoot" on the issues in their campaign for the U.S. Senate in November.

Yates was named by Illinois Democratic leaders Saturday as the party's choice to try to unseat Dirksen, who is seeking a third term.

"Sen. Dirksen has written his record and I have written mine, and that will be the basis of the campaign," Yates said. "I shall show the Republican senator's foundation has been built in shifting sand."

Yates, 52, is serving his seventh term in Congress, representing the old 9th district in Chicago, an area that includes the Gold Coast. He has been a strong supporter of President Kennedy's programs.

In Congress Yates supported legislation to provide housing for low-income and middle-income families, civil rights, federal funds for school construction, increased Social Security benefits, medical-health aid for the aged and reciprocal trade between nations.

"All measures designed to check the spread of communism have drawn his support," Yates said. These include, he said, Marshall Plan, Point Four economic and military assistance to free world nations.

Yates said he doesn't think he will lose downstate votes because his election would give Illinois two senators from Chicago. Paul A. Douglas, a Democrat, is a Chicagoan, while Dirksen is a downstater from Pekin.

He said the custom of having one senator from Chicago and one from downstate is now a "blanket tradition." Twice in the state's early days the senators lived in the same cities, Yates called.

The Democratic slates committee made other endorsements at the Saturday meeting.

AROUND THE COUNTY

by Harold Brinkmeier

Why is it, the seed catalogs come in the mail at the same time we get bad weather each year? I guess they figure we will have time to look at the luscious tomatoes and red ripe strawberries and make out an order. If my 10 year old boy, Greg, had his way, he would have a garden that would feed the whole neighborhood. Seriously, a garden furnishes a larger amount of good wholesome nutrition, plenty of vitamins, and can do plenty for the waistline. Just thinking about it probably won't do much good though.

Cold weather really makes the winter feed supply go fast. Live-stock appetites pick up as they try to maintain body temperatures. January is the time to inventory that roughage supply because about two-thirds of the barn feeding season is ahead. If you are short of hay now is the time to cull low producing dairy cows, buy hay or feed more corn to replace part of the roughage.

Warm Water Required
Another winter chore is keeping the tank heater fired up. Water colder than 50 degrees causes a temporary paralysis of the digestive tract, and animals lose their appetites. A 1000 pound animal will drink 8 to 12 gallons of water a day.

New Ag 4-H leader in the Mt. Pulaski area will be Mrs. Marilyn Durchholz, who will take over the Four-Leaf club. Duane Copeland and Bill McCain have been the club leaders for the past five years. CALIFORNIA WARM

In contrast to the arctic blasts which swept the mountain and Plains states, San Francisco with 79 and Oakland, Calif., with 75 chalked up record highs for January Monday. The old San Francisco record was 78 in 1899. The Oakland record for January was 75 in 1948.

Elsewhere, 5 inches of new snow was on the ground at Buffalo, N. Y., and Muskegon, Mich., had a new 3-inch fall.

Generally fair weather prevailed in the Far West, with temperatures in the 40s and 50s. In the South, temperatures ranged from around the freezing mark to the 60s.

State of Union

Kennedy proposed standby authority to lower income tax rates by a limited percentage and for a limited period, subject to veto by Congress. This, he said, would enable the government "to slow down an economic decline before it has dragged us down."

He omitted reference to upward adjustments to contend with inflation, reportedly on grounds the constitution empowers Congress alone to increase taxes.

Standby authority to accelerate federal and federally aided capital improvements programs—public works in particular—would be exercised "upon a given rise in unemployment."

WILL ELABORATE

Kennedy intends to elaborate on both proposals in his economic message later this month, as he will his third antirecession measure — to strengthen, presumably with minimum federal standards, the unemployment compensation system.

The President repeated previous recommendations for the other three parts, aimed at expanding economic growth: Job retaining for idle workers, training and placement for youths and the 8 per cent tax credit coupled with faster depreciation allowances to stimulate investment in new machinery and equipment.

PLEDGE RENEWED

Kennedy reiterated his pledge of a balanced budget for 1962-63 and said the current deficit, last estimated at nearly $7 billion, would be "far below" the level incurred after the last recession. The deficit shot to $12.4 billion in 1958-59. For government employees, he proposed pay scales more comparable with those in private industry.

The chief executive asked Congress to preserve or expand three sources of income by raising postal rates to end the post office deficit, adopting his tax reform recommendations — including withholding of dividends and interest — and extending of excise and corporation tax rates. From the latter, he excepted transportation taxes. He reportedly will advocate a broad revision of those rates.

Again Kennedy urged Congress to create a department of urban affairs and housing, along with new legislative tools to deal with crime, mass transit and transportation and air pollution.

PROGRAM FOR FARMER

He said he would submit "a new comprehensive farm program" tailored to fit crops to needs of the 1960s. Since 1950, he said, farm output per man-hour has doubled.

"Without new, realistic measures," Kennedy said, "it will some day swamp both our farmers and our taxpayers in a national scandal or a farm depression."

Kennedy said bills now before Congress offer "appropriate methods" of strengthening basic civil rights. He specified only the right to vote, which he asserted "should no longer be arbitrarily and poll taxes."

Kennedy recounted steps taken to augment the nation's military strength but said "arms alone are not enough to keep the peace." He portrayed the United Nations as "our instrument and our hope." And he urged Congress to approve U.S. purchase of U.N. bond issues to finance special operations.

Has Satellite Plans

On the space frontier, Kennedy said he would propose a method of financing and operating an international communications satellite system.

Although "that armistice day seems very far away" when the world can lay down weapons, he said the nation has the will and faith for a supreme effort to break the log jam on disarmament and nuclear tests.

For his Alliance for Progress plan in Latin America, Kennedy advocated a long term fund of $3 billion which combined with other resources would provide more than $1 billion a year in new support to raise living standards in the southern hemisphere.

For newly emerging nations, Kennedy promised support of their independence as a bar to Communist expansion.

The new House leadership of John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Carl Albert of Oklahoma has promised full cooperation with the President and publicly expressed optimism over the chances of enacting most of his program.

McCormack was elected speaker Wednesday by a straight-party vote to succeed the late Sam Rayburn. Albert moved into the Democratic floor leadership post vacated by McCormack, and Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana replaced Albert as Democratic whip.

It may be well into the spring months before it will be known whether the optimism of the leaders was justified. But the legislative fur is expected to start flying when the time comes for Congress to say "yes" or "no" on such controversial issues as medical care for the aged, tariff reductions, school aid, U.N. bonds and continued foreign aid.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ernie Kovacs, the mustachioed comedian who once said every moment of life should be enjoyed, lived and treasured, was buried today with simple Presbyterian rites.

Ernie often said he didn't want to leave with the usual fanfare of Hollywood funerals, so his widow, singer Edie Adams, arranged the brief church rites and private burial at Forest Lawn's Hollywood Hills Cemetery. There will be no eulogy.

The 42-year-old comedian was killed early Saturday when his compact station wagon skidded into a telephone pole.

Jack Lemmon, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Billy Wilder, Dick Quine and Joe Mikalos will be active pallbearers.

Beason School Robbed of $113 After Vault Crack

Thieves broke into the safe at Beason grade school early Thursday and walked off with $113.14 plus an unknown amount of change taken from two coke machines located in the gymnasium.

The culprits made good use of the school's equipment in accomplishing the theft. According to Ken Simons, Logan county deputy sheriff who investigated, entrance into the building was made through door of the high school Ag shop. Simons said apparently the door was left open as there was no evidence of forcible entry.

The deputy reconstructed the crime as follows: Tools were taken from the Ag shop and an effort made to gain entrance into the vault by opening a hole in the wall from the shop's rear.

that is where the boxes containing the money were found.

The robbery was discovered 6:15 a.m. Thursday by Don, an employee of the school, called the sheriff's office. Simons said he believed the thieves were local because of their knowledge of the school.

A.L. Memorial Hospital Given Accreditation

"Abraham Lincoln Memorial Hospital has again been accredited for three years," Arthur A. Gimbel, president, announced Saturday. "We were pleased with the report following the inspection Dec. 1, by Doctor Frank A. McDonald of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals." Accreditation is the official recognition of a hospital's voluntary confirmation to prescribe to standards of patient care.

The accrediting body is the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, which is made up of representatives of four organizations: The American Medical Association, the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, and the American Hospital Association. Requirements Listed

There are many requirements to successful accreditation. The physicians and surgeons who are privileged to practice in the hospital must be organized in a medical staff. They must be graduates of approved medical schools, in good standing, legally licensed, competent in their respective fields, and ethical in their relationships. The medical staff must initiate and, with the approval of the board of trustees, adopt rules, regulations, and policies governing the professional work at the hospital. It must meet regularly and review monthly the clinical experiences of the hospital. Accurate and complete medical records of all patients must be maintained, reviewed, and analyzed.

The hospital must have adequate clinical laboratory and X-ray departments under competent professional supervision. The nursing service and dietary department must be efficiently staffed and perform in an appropriately high degree. The physical plant must be adequate and safe. The administration must be competent. The board of trustees must carry out its functions effectively in the over-all responsibility for the organization.

25 Bed Smallest Accreditation was first started by the American College of Surgeons in 1918. It was transferred to the Joint Commission on Accreditation in 1933. Since that time, a new high emphasis has been given to the program. Accreditation is not to be confused with the licensure by the State. Eighty six per cent of the licensed hospitals, with bed capacities over 25, in Illinois are accredited. A 25-bed hospital is the smallest that can be accredited.

Abraham Lincoln Memorial Hospital has been accredited since December 1935, the earliest possible date after its opening.

Economy Outlook Favorable

The revenue loss would be smaller than what a recession costs in pay and production losses and shrunken tax collections, he said. And Congress would write into the law the safeguards to protect its taxing power, he argued.

"I am not asking Congress to delegate its power to levy taxes," Kennedy added, "but to authorize a temporary and emergency suspension of taxes by the President—subject to the checkrein of Congressional veto—in situations where time is of the essence."

The tax cut "would remain in effect six months, subject to revision or renewal by the same process"—that is, by presidential action, subject to veto—"or extension by a joint resolution of Congress."

In equivalent detail Kennedy spelled out his request for power to "accelerate and initiate" up to $2 billion of works projects when unemployment is rising.

Within Two Months

The President could act, under this plan, within two months after the unemployment rate (1) had risen in at least three out of four months and (2) had risen at least 1 percentage point higher than its level four months earlier. These time periods could be lengthened if Congress preferred, the message indicated.

Before taking action, the President would have to make a finding that "current and prospective economic developments" required such measures, under the Employment Act.

His proposals for bolstering jobless pay were familiar in the main, having been laid before Congress last year and modeled after the temporary measures taken by Congress in the last two recessions.

Kennedy suggested "incentives" for the states to improve their jobless benefits, so that most idle workers would receive at least half their average weekly wage.

Not Directly Asked

Kennedy suggested that Congress "will wish to examine carefully" proposals for removal of the ceiling on the federal debt and the 4½ per cent ceiling on the interest rates on Treasury bonds. But he did not directly ask their removal.

However, in his budget message Kennedy asked that the "temporary" debt ceiling be boosted to $308 billion. The debt now is pushing against the present limit of $298 billion.

Avalanche---

Two persons were rescued from the buried wreckage of their home. William Adamich, 35, and his wife Barbara, 30, were hospitalized in Leadville with frostbite and possible internal injuries. Their son Billy, 8, was found dead. Another son, Michael, 10, was missing.

The other two houses were vacant.

About 600 persons worked more than six hours in the frigid mountain air probing the wreckage.

A neighbor, Nels Lindstone, 68, said that when he awoke at 8 a.m. he looked out of a window and saw only snow and wreckage where the houses had stood.

Lindstone said he tried to telephone the sheriff in Leadville, but telephone lines were down. He hailed a passing motorist to notify authorities.

Hear Calls For Help

Lindstone said he and a neighbor walked through the snow-covered wreckage until they heard faint cries for help. They started digging.

It was another two and one half hours before the two survivors were found. Mrs. Adamich was pinned beneath heavy timbers across her legs and abdomen. Her husband was about 75 feet away.

The avalanche followed a three-day storm that dumped 30 inches of snow.

Logan HIA Represented

Illinois Health Improvement Association leaders from Logan County HIA were among the more than 350 representatives from HIA's throughout the state, who attended the tenth annual meeting of the association at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel in Springfield Jan. 18 and 19.

"While the eyes of the nation are now focused on health care problems and particularly those of the aged," John Rehkemper, president of the Illinois HIA, declared in his opening speech of welcome at the annual meeting. "We in HIA recognize the great importance of health," Rehkemper said, "and have been working for many years to help solve the health care problems of people throughout Illinois and particularly of folks living on farms and in small towns."

"We recognize the need for assistance... on a voluntary basis... in many avenues of health improvement, and are working constantly to raise the health level in our individual counties throughout Illinois," Rehkemper said.

"In 1961, our Illinois HIA was invited to appear before the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington, D.C. in the hearings on the King-Anderson House Bill HR 4222," he explained.

"Fantasy in C major" (Wanderer) Bar-Ilan demonstrated his versatility in tone making. Whether the notes called for dulcet, tinkling tones or stentorian, stormy chords, the emotional power of the performer was in evidence throughout.

Plays "Breath of Israel" He turned to a suite composed by a countryman, Paul Ben-Haim, to close the before-intermission group of numbers. Starting with the peaceful chorale, it progressed through the capriccio and canzonetta movements to the crashing toccata—a climax of crescendo. This work was performed with deep feeling and one could gain in idea of the intense feelings of the Israeli people.

Bar-Ilan turned to the works of Frederic Chopin following the intermission. Described as a "poet of the keyboard," the "Ballade in F minor" rendition bore out this characteristic of the young piano performer. There were parts that were slow and mournful—and others that were lively.

Substitute for Program For his last programmed number, Bar-Ilan substituted "Nocturne in D flat" for two of the Etude studies from Chopin. But while the program was marked "finis," it was not so. Three times his listening admirers called him back—for these encores:

"Waltz in C sharp minor," by Chopin; "Fireworks" by DeBus-sy, and "The Fifteenth Hun-garian Rhapsody" by Liszt. With melodies familiar to most, the Chopin and Liszt numbers were especially enjoyable. Yet the re-sounding "Fireworks," which might almost be classed as a novel number, with its staccato and fast-moving rhythm, was also thoroughly appreciated.

On to Detroit Next From Lincoln, Bar-Ilan moves on to Detroit, Mich. His appearance here maintained the high artist standard set for Concert Assn. members.

Next in the series is set for Feb. 19, when David Abell, violinist, appears here. The Tuesday night performance was largely attended despite the difficulty of maneuvering over the ice-covered parking lot and drives.

The chain of events began at 8 p.m. when a car driven by Alfred L. Fagg, 25, Springfield, went out of control on the slick pavement and smashed into the center pier between the lanes on the Rte 66 Bypass north of Lincoln. State Trooper Robert Cline was called and while investigating, parked his vehicle on the shoulder of the road.

Soon after Cline's arrival, a northbound semi-trailer truck passed the scene and started to jack-knife on the curve. Noticing the truck, City Policeman Robert Hahn, who was also at the scene, attempted to a halt a second oncoming northbound truck. The driver of the second truck Howard W. Jones, Harvey, attempted to stop and almost succeeded when the vehicle slid sideways and into the parked squad car. In the meantime, the first trucker regained control of his vehicle and proceeded on.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of our Dear Mother, Mrs. John Broughton, who passed away eleven years ago today.

We miss you Mom, and all the things you taught us kids to do. And looking back upon the years there was never a Mom like you.

You seemed to smile when things went wrong.

And gave us a helping hand. So on this day we remember the best Mom in all the land.

We know you tried, and if we failed.

Dear Mom we can't blame you. For your soothing words of rightfulness.

Many times have proven true. 'Tis we, who now look back and say.

Dear Mom you did your part. So on this day we remember the Mom with the biggest heart. We thank you Mom for all you did.

As you shared our pains and sorrow.

And taught us how to overcome the sins of each tomorrow.

You cradled us and loved us — As you fondled us with kisses.

And that, dear Mom, is the greatest thing.

Your grown up kids still miss you. (Written by Harold Minder)

Kerner Tells Decision on Hodge

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Former state auditor Orville Hodge was expected to learn today whether early freedom from Menard Prison is in sight for him.

Gov. Otto Kerner planned to announce at an afternoon news conference his decision on Hodge's appeal either for a pardon, which would free him from Menard, or a sentence reduction allowing him to seek parole at once.

Without giving any hint of his ruling, Kerner has admitted he has had trouble making up his mind. At one time he said he questioned that Hodge, because he violated a public trust, should be considered in the same light as other criminals.

The governor previously declined to confirm or deny reports the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board, which heard Hodge's petition last October, had recommended his sentence be shortened.

Edward Berendt's Funeral Thursday

McLEAN—Services for Edward Berendt, who died Sunday at his home here, will be Thursday morning from St. Romanian church in Chicago and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery, Chicago.

The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m., Wednesday from the Murphy Funeral Home in Chicago. The decedent was born in Chicago, April 17, 1890, the son of Joseph and Mary Piekarske Berendt. He married Gertrude Pastor Jan. 9, 1937. He leaves his wife and a sister and was preceded in death by two sisters and a brother.

He was a member of St. Romanian church.

In executive clemency cases, the final decision rests with the governor.

Without a sentence cut, Hodge could not apply for parole until November 1963.

Hodge, now 57, was imprisoned in August 1956 for looting the state treasury of $1.5 million. He is serving 12 to 15 years for forgery, confidence game and embezzlement.

The scandal, which swept the high-living Hodge off the Republican ticket for re-election, came at a time when he was being groomed as a future candidate for governor.
