Players at L.C. Praised For 'Miracle'

The early life of Helen Keller unfolded magnificently on the stage at Lincoln college Friday night as the Lincoln College Community Players presented William Gibson's "The Miracle Worker".

The story itself is simple, Helen Keller, a deaf, dumb, and blind girl, is born, and no one seems to know what to do. Annie Sullivan then appears and finally succeeds in teaching Helen to communicate with the world. This is eventually accomplished through the simple understanding that as light is to the eyes, so is language to the mind. In Helen's case it was disciplining the animalistic Helen to bring the Braille language to her mind. Communication is only a part of education as Helen was to later understand.

Plot Well Portrayed

Ideas in the play and the understanding of the story as put to the audience were excellent. Presentation of the subject matter was handled quite well with no over-dramatics. The story makes one realize how fortunate people are and how much patience it took on the part of Annie Sullivan.

The College-Community players are to be commended for their performance. The cast as a whole turned in an excellent performance, and it would be hard to single out any one or two outstanding characters, although Penny Werschey, who played Helen, did such a fine job it made one wonder how she kept from talking throughout the play.

David Stevenson, who played Helen's father, capably portrayed the Southern gentleman of that age. And last but not least, Pat Heft, who played Annie Sullivan, effectively told the two-fold story of the girl finding herself while she saved another.

Barrier Broken Down

"The Miracle Worker", is based upon the thought that a wondrous feat took place on the Keller's Alabama farm. An educational process, dependent upon discipline, broke the communications barrier. This is the miracle.

Other members of the cast: Robert Beardsley, Jane Lauer, Lisa King, Frank Alesia, Betsy McKelvey, Bruce Ward, Winfield Scott and Terry Brown.

The midwest premiere amateur performance was directed by Louis E. Catron and will be presented again tonight, next Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is

TELLTALES:

Editor's Notebook....

It is not included in the list of official flag flying days in our country, but we believe such an important event as election day warrants flying the Stars and Stripes not only at polling places but from all homes and business places. It would serve as a constant reminder to citizens to vote.

A Lincoln woman and her husband were in disagreement as to whether she should go to Chicago to keep a date she had previously made with a woman friend in the big city. The resident here believed that in view of the crisis (Cuban) she should remain at home. Her husband scoffed at the idea — urging her to go. She made an early morning call to a friend in Lincoln, who "sided with" the husband. — P.S.: She did not go.

Little ones are the ones who persist in finding out the facts. Lincoln girl of 9 years, taking her piano lesson, told her teacher of the upcoming birthday dinner for her grandfather. Knowing the latter well, the teacher told her pupil, "Wish your grandfather well for me on his 75th birthday." When the girl got home she asked her mother, "Is Grandpa really that old (75)?" — She appeared happy when informed the teacher had been "in error" by 16 years.

Lincoln man being somewhat embarrassed when he drove up to a local place of business with a friend. The car door on the passenger side wouldn't open — so both the driver and his passenger crawled out on the steering wheel side.

Raymond Keys, Kiwanis club president, remembering a club member's birthday with "An Old Gray Mare" greeting card.

Ornate gavel from Order of Rainbow Girls in Australia used at Lincoln Assembly's meeting of Oct. 26. It is carried on her rounds by Grand Worthy Adviser Diane Welker of Chicago and used by worthy advisers in the various assemblies she visits in Illinois. Here, it was wielded by Miss Marcela Rohrer.

Two candidates for Logan offices in the Nov. 6 election, Ken Zimmerman, for sheriff, and Weldon B. Frantz, for treasurer, were prisoners of war during World War II; Zimmerman for seven months and Frantz for 14.

You have no basement? and want a fallout shelter in case "IT" comes? Believe it or not, here's where you can use an old automobile — and without too much expense. Place the old car (minus hood) in a three-foot-deep excavation with rods or wooden beams providing support. Next comes a cover of concrete. The old car windows can be boarded up — except one used for entry — which can be closed after entry with sandbags or a steel plate — Sounds real cozy, eh?

The appeal to the independent voter has reached a zenith in Logan county. Candidates are excluding party affiliations on some political advertisements. One party's slate has labelled itself the blue ribbon ticket, not mentioning whether it is Republican or Democrat.

comed" many Lincoln tricking-treating youngsters Halloween night. — And surely some of the night prowlers have enough candy, gum, etc., to last for some time — or else man-sized tummy aches. — All of which reminds us, the soap has to be cleaned off the car windows.

"Hearty thanks," says Park District Pres. Arthur Gimbel, to those who helped in putting across the corcus project. He especially is appreciative to the Rec Staff and Rec youths as well as the Courier. "The District appreciates all the interest generated for this beautification project," Gimbel says. — Notebook thinks it's time in turn to thank the District and Gimbel for the corcus idea.

A Lincoln lad, one of four in a "trick and treat" group, has real courtesy. The group's picture was taken and the lad went out of his way the following day to pay a call at the photographer's home and say "thanks for taking our picture." — Atta boy.

Adults got into the Halloween act in Lincoln with an innovation "Trick or Drink". After about six house calls, the trick was to find the way home.

A mother reports that Halloweening youngsters in Lincoln stayed in line, but claims a man didn't. When he answered a "trick or treat" knock at the door, he punched a lad in the kisser, the mother reports. It was not her boy but had it been, there probably would have been trouble for the puncher, the mother informs Notebook.

Attorney Tom Gourille is fond of the story of the impatient client who called up his ritzy firm of solicitors—Wasservogel, Wasservogel, Wasservogel and Wasservogel — and demanded, "Put Wasservogel on the wire immediately." "Sorry," was the answer. "Mr. Wasservogel is in Montego Bay." "Then get me Wasservogel," said the client. "Sorry," came the answer again. "Mr. Wasservogel is in court today." "Well, how about Wasservogel?" asked the client. "You draw another blank," said the man at the other end of the wire. "Mr. Wasservogel is attending a convention in Washington."

"Then, dammit," shouted the client, "let me talk to WASSERVOGEL!" Came the answer: "SPEAKING."

15th Anniversary Here For Lehn & Fink Corp.

Lehn & Fink Products Corporation celebrated the 15th anniversary of the establishment of its Lincoln plant with a luncheon for employees and city officials at the Limit Street plant Tuesday.

The company announced it is happy here and termed relations with the city as excellent. They were especially pleased with the caliber of employees Lincoln has supplied and the harmonious relationship that has existed between the company and its employees, a spokesman said.

There were 180 employees at the Lincoln plant when production commenced in late 1947. Now there are 340. Production over the past 15 years has increased five fold. The company expressed the desire to continue to grow with the city. It further expressed pride in past progress and confidence in the future, and particularly thanked their employees whose efforts and cooperation have made this growth possible.

A brief history of the company outlines its progress and growth from its inception in 1874. Net sales comparisons were given indicating they had more than tripled since the Lincoln plant was established in 1947. The Lincoln operation was cited as being a major contributor to this success.

Present at the ceremonies was D. J. Olsen, general manager of the manufacturing division, who represented the corporation and presented Lincoln General Manager Th. Meyer with a plaque for the local plant, symbolizing the service award pin presented to 15 year employees. Mayor Ed Spellman represented the city and cited the Corporation for being "a good citizen, stable employer, and a major contributor to the growth of Lincoln."

Barbara Struening, Marie Thomas, Louise West, and John Zelle. The total service for these employees is 600 years.

Also acknowledged, were employees who have service in excess of 15 years: Meyer with 34 years, Frank Blatterman with 25 years, and Frank Looney with 19 years.

WASHINGTON — Domestic commercial production of red meat was down 6 per cent in September compared with last year but the January-September output was up 2 per cent above last year, the Agriculture Department reports.

Commercial production in September totaled 2,128,000,000 pounds. Besides being less than in September of last year it was 10 per cent below August 1962.

But production for the first nine months of 1962 totaled 20,588,000,000 pounds, compared with 20,272,000,000 pounds in the January-September period of 1961. Beef accounted for 11,215,000,000 pounds, about the same as a year earlier; 690,000,000 pounds were veal, down 3 per cent from the previous year; 8,087,000,000 pounds were pork, up 4 per cent; and 593,000,000 pounds were lamb and mutton, down 4 per cent.

WASHINGTON — The latest crop to catch the fancy of many farmers is safflower, an oil seed. Back of this growing popularity is a demand for the oil by a diet-conscious population.

Only about 10,000 acres were planted to this crop in 1949. This year's planting is estimated at 600,000 acres and another big increase is anticipated next year. Safflower's phenomenal growth is due, the Agriculture Department says, to the unique characteristics of the oil extracted from its seed. This oil is a rich source of polyunsaturated fatty acids for human diets. Fats low in these acids are claimed by some medical authorities to be desirable for those prone to heart and related diseases.

While new in this country, the crop has been known for centuries in India, the Middle East and North Africa. There it is used as a source of dye as well as edible oil.

It was introduced in this country in 1925, but farmers did not begin to grow it until near the end of World War II.

Car Stealing Youths Held

An escapade involving teenage boys from Davon, Ia., resulted in the youths being held Monday night in city jail and two car owners facing the possibility of being ticketed for losing their keys in the car.

The two youths, ages 15 and 16, began hitchhiking from export early Monday morning. At Walnut, Ill., they were tired of walking and decided to ride in a stolen auto. Upon reaching Hartsburg, the two decided it would be nice if each had an auto and so stole another vehicle.

Their journey was short after taking the auto to Hartsburg. State Trooper Bob stopped the youths within minutes and had them in custody, even though one youth attempted to escape and ran. Rents later said that owners of both stolen autos would be held for leaving their keys in cars.

After spending the night in jail here, the two youths were turned over to Bureau authorities Tuesday.

Damage Case Off Docket

The $200,000 injury-damage suit filed by Orvil Conway against the Illinois Central Railroad Co., and set for hearing Wednesday forenoon before a Logan county court petit jury, was taken off the current trial docket shortly before noon at the request of the parties involved to enable classification of certain evidence. It is to be rescheduled for a later jury call.

The case arises from an auto-train collision which occurred at a rail crossing Oct. 28, 1951, involving a car driven by the plaintiff and an I.C. train.
Presiding Judge Leland Slimkins dismissed the prospective jurors until Monday. Seven of the original nine civil cases set for trial hearing during the present call have been either settled or rescheduled for a later hearing.

UNDER PREDICTIONS

Tuesday's unofficial total vote of 12,569 in the county was fairly heavy for a non-presidential election year, but was considerably less than what had been predicted. Tuesday's vote was 1,411 above the 1958 general election figure but nearly 3,000 less than the 15,332 vote in the 1960 presidential election.

County Clerk Leonard McCann, who with other members of his staff was on the job until 6:30 a.m. Wednesday before the final precinct reported in, expects the official canvass of votes to get underway Thursday.

Scattered throughout today's edition of the Courier are unofficial tabulations of the vote in Logan County.

TELL-TALES: Editor's Notebook.

Preparing to don his robe for the worship service, a Lincoln pastor found it was not in its accustomed place. Then he remembered he had left it at a different place in the church. He hurried to get it — only to find it wasn't his. A visiting pastor by mistake had left his robe and taken home the local minister's garment. The one left was far, far too big for the preacher here. So he wore none. — Such a mix-up is not infrequent among hat-wearers but ministerial robe exchanging is a different slant.

During the evening the drove past its home to a was going on. They found turned boys and girls in numbers in the area of house. On returning home they found ONLY half candy had been taken. E the trick and treaters were ciative of thoughtfulness and reciprocated by no piggish.

The Nov. 6 election was a "colorful" affair. The general (candidate) ballot was white; the judicial amendment ballots were blue and the banking act amendment ballots were pink. — And some of the candidates were blue when the votes were counted.

Viewers will "drive" along the north rim of the Grand Canyon and visit the wild life of Kaibab National Forest. Then take a long journey to the south rim to visit the Hopi Indians. The treacherous ride down the Colorado River is made on mammoth rubber rafts, and the expedition is led by Georgia White — dauntless woman adventurer. The signal is "Hang on!" for the ride over turbulent rapids, between the colorful canyon walls. On the way are occasional stops to hike up the precipitous heights, and see Indian villages. 'Commendable,' 'Paths' Verdict

A commendable performance was turned in by Lincoln Christian College players at Lincoln high school Thursday night when David Hargrove's "Where All Paths Meet" was presented. It is being staged again Friday (this) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The story takes place 2,000 years ago during the period immediately preceding the birth of Christ in Bethlehem. As the story turns out, all paths do lead to Bethlehem, and the problems which are encountered work themselves out as does the problem Mary and Joseph face in finding a place for their son to be born.

The college players do a fine job of acting throughout. Joseph Webb, who plays the beggar, must be singled out as one of the outstanding character actors.

Costumes used are authentic and the excellent job of lighting adds to the merit of the performance.

The musical numbers and singing arrangements are also to be complimented. One can tell that hours and much work went into practicing the fine arrangements.

David Hargrove, who wrote the book, music, and lyrics, has made the play, "Where All Paths Meet" well worth seeing.

Students Get L.C. Answers

Approximately 50 students of Lincoln county gathered in a Friday evening campus meeting with several faculty members for a question-answer session conducted by Dean David Stevenson. The latter said the students had asked for the meeting and he agreed — on condition their questions would be submitted to him in writing, that there would be no discussion and that the meeting would continue for an hour only.

Stevenson said about 20 questions were submitted, many of them duplicate in content, and related to the board of trustees in regard to Prof. Joseph Letson and the subsequent resignation by Prof. Byron Lander. The trustees said after Letson's protest to what he considered aggression, they would not renew his contract at the end of the 1952-53 academic year.

Stevenson, in answering the questions which raised the point of suppression of freedom, declared that Professor Letson, who had the right to his viewpoint and that he was not suppressed. Likewise, he pointed out the board of trustees had the right not to retain Letson.

Stevenson told the Courier the questions were in the main sensible and that it was a quiet and orderly meeting.

TELL-TALES: Editor's Notebook....

It was shortly after 6 p.m. at a Lincoln home Wednesday. Came a knock on the door and the caller inquired, "Are you have a big black dog?" He was told "No, we don't." Then he explained that despite slamming on his brakes he could not stop striking a dog which ran in front of his car. The animal was able to run away but the driver wanted to find it and take the animal to a veterinarian. It was very evident how badly the man felt over the accident which hardly could have been averted.

Absent-minded business man in Lincoln leaving his change behind at service station. The charge was $1.50, he gave the attendant a $5 bill and drove away. Reaching home he remembered the bill later returned to pick up his $3.50.

Space for address and signature is also provided along with another inscription, "Keep Freedom Your Future—with U.S. Savings Bonds."

Two Lincoln men were "rescued" by friends at an eatery along Rt. 66 near Williamsburg Thursday evening. The party of eight men, returning from a busy night mission in Springfield, stopped for refreshments. Two were overhauled, not having known of the trip to Springfield until the two cars showed up, and forgetting to take along any $1555. They were rescued by friends not worry, others would pick up the check—and they did. P.S., the two have vowed never to go "broke" again.

Thanks to a birthday, the 1953 Logan County M.O.D. has its first contribution. Logan County National Foundation chapter had a dinner meeting Friday evening at the Colonial. After dinner a "birthday" was celebrated. Sent to Don Holloway who was marking his 17th birthday anniversary. The thing read "Happy Birthday Don M.O.D." The birthday frosting was a dime. After recovering from the surprise of the cake and accompanying singing of "Happy Birthday Song," Holloway presented the coin to Robert C. Gebelach, who will be drive chairman in 1953, as a "start."

Not a little fellow. To him it looks awfully big. And how he grows to face it depends on you.

Teach him well. Teach him Love. Love of God and of his fellow man. Let him see it in your daily life. And he will grow—loving and loved.

Teach him Respect. Live in such a way that he can respect you. Then teach him to respect others and that which belongs to others. And he will grow—seeking not to destroy but to build. And he himself will be respected.

But above all, teach him Faith. And he will gain a strength that will not fail him. Teach him Faith and it will add to his happiness. Teach him Faith... and he will never be alone.

Kennedy, Mikoyan Will Discuss

Cuban, Other Problems Before Leaders During Thursday Get-Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan are expected to discuss not only Cuba but the full range of the cold war problems when they meet Thursday at the White House.

U. S. officials said the Soviet troubleshooter sent word through Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin that he wanted to confer with Kennedy.

Dobrynin met Mikoyan Monday on his arrival in New York from Havana and rushed back to Washington that night with the message to the White House.

For weeks Mikoyan was in Cuba reportedly trying to prod Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro into accepting a settlement of the crisis.

The White House announced Tuesday that Mikoyan would call on Kennedy Thursday, but officials added it was safe to assume they would meet again on Friday.

Because there is no agenda for the talks, officials are reluctant to speculate on what issues will be raised by whom.

ONE OF MANY

There appears to be a consensus, however, on two points: that the Cuban issue will be only one of many to be discussed and that the international problems in which the two countries are directly involved probably will come up.

President Kennedy in Washington Tuesday, then flew back to New York for the meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and possibly First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan.

Mikoyan is scheduled to meet Kennedy in Washington Thursday on the Cuban crisis and probably will confer later with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Stevenson and John J. McCloy, head of Kennedy's Cuban coordinating committee, were reported anxious to find out what stand Mikoyan would take before he meets with the President.

MAINLY SOCIAL

The U. S. negotiators talked with Mikoyan Monday night at a dinner given by Acting Secretary General U. Thant, but Stevenson said it was mainly a social gathering.

The Soviet troubleshooter returned to New York Monday after 24 days in Havana. The Havana radio said Mikoyan, in a farewell letter, told Prime Minister Fidel Castro: "The complete support of the Soviet Union, of the brother family of the socialist countries and of all progressive humanity is at your side in this noble fight."

Stevenson was expected to press the Soviets to carry out Premier Khrushchev's proposal for international inspection to insure that all Soviet missiles have been removed from Cuba and the missile bases dismantled.

WON'T BE CONSIDERED

Stevenson also was expected to tell the Soviets the United States will not even consider Castro's demand for dismantling of training bases for anti-Castro exiles in the United States, Puerto Rico and elsewhere.

Castro said he would agree to U. N. inspection of Cuba if the United States would do away with the anti-Castro bases and permit U. N. inspection of the process.

The U. S. position is that the Soviet Union is responsible for carrying out the inspection part of the bargain and the United States is not dealing with Castro.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. and Soviet negotiators on the Cuban crisis return to the bargaining table today for the first time in six days.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson discussed the situation with President Kennedy in Washington Tuesday, then flew back to New York for the meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and possibly First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan.

MAGISTRATE INJURED

Police Magistrate, Edgar Thompson, was admitted to Lincoln Memorial Hospital Tuesday with possible broken ribs. Thompson was involved in a three-car collision near Odell. Martin M. Dougherty, a passenger riding with Thompson, was examined, then released by the hospital.

Airlines Push Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the nation's largest airlines—American and Eastern—pursued their plans for a merger today despite a sharp rebuff from a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner.

Spokesmen for both airlines said they would continue to seek CAB approval of a merger despite the adverse recommendation Tuesday by examiner Ralph L. Wiser.

Wiser, who heard arguments on the proposal for several months, said the monopoly would tend to create a monopoly.

He said neither airline is a failing business or unduly weak. Thus he said, the merger could not be justified on the basis of business necessity.

American is the nation's second largest carrier. Eastern is the fourth largest.

The five-man board will consider Wiser's recommendation and present its findings to President Kennedy who has responsibility for the final decision because international routes are involved. The airlines' statements that they will continue to fight for the merger approval brushed aside industry speculation that they might give up.

Under terms of the agreement, either party could withdraw the merger was not approved by Nov. 30.

An Eastern spokesman said the financial condition of the industry was so critical due to competition that unnecessary duplication of routes and facilities must be ended.

Harts Funeral Will Be Friday, 2 p.m.

Funeral services for David H. Harts, 83, attorney whose name was synonymous with that of Lincoln College for many years, will be Friday at 2 p. m. at First Methodist church. It was at this church that he worshipped. The Harts home is at 104 Tenth st.

In charge of the last rites will be the Rev. H. Sheldon Pattison, assisted by L. C. Pres. Raymond Dooley. Interment will be in Hartman cemetery. Visitation at Holland and Barry Funeral Home is to be Thursday between 4 and 7 p. m. The well-known citizen's death occurred Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Abraham Lincoln Memorial hospital.

Born in Lincoln Dec. 9, 1879, his family was among the oldest in Logan county. The college and community leader was the son of the late Capt. David H. and Emma Brewster Harts. The father acquired from the Abraham Lincoln family the only land in Logan county that was ever owned by the Civil War president. The elder Harts purchased it from Mr. Lincoln's son, Robert, and it later became the property of the younger Harts.

Following his early education in the Lincoln grade and high schools, Harts studied at Lincoln College. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois in 1900 and his L.L.B. degree from the Harvard school of law in 1905. Later he put in a year of study at Heidelberg University in Germany.

SUCCEEDED FATHER

In 1926, Harts succeeded his father as a member of the college board of managers. The next year he became chairman, then became president of the board of trustees in the reorganization of 1933. For more than 30 years he headed the college board, retiring from the post in May, 1961. In appreciation of his long and distinguished service, he was then named president-emeritus of the L.C. governing body.

He was well and long known for many years as manager of the college-owned farms and for promoting its endowment fund. His name will remain long identified with the college where Harts Hall, women's dormitory, bears his name. He and Mrs. Harts purchased the former Stephen Foley property at 427 Tremont st., giving it to the college in 1937 for dormitory purposes. His wife, the former Florence Johnston survives.

PROUD OF SEPARATION

A practicing lawyer in his earlier years, Harts furnished the guiding legal hand when the college here was made independent of Millikin University in Decatur and reverted to its original charter which predates the Illinois constitution. This was one of his accomplishments for Lincoln College of which he was most proud. He had also served as a trustee of the school in Decatur when it was known as

James Millikin University. With the late D.F. Nickols, Harts started the Lincoln Room at L.C. and today it is recognized as one of the most valuable collections of Lincolniana. It was set up in 1942 with part of the Lincoln collection of the late Judge Lawrence B. Stringer.

CITED BY ALUMNI

In 1953 the Alumni Assn. of Lincoln College presented Harts with a special award and placed his portrait in the college office. The portrait inscription reads: "David H. Harts, chairman of the Board of Managers, in recognition of loyal service." In the years he was head of the board, three new dormitories were constructed and 11 buildings improved.

But not all of Harts community service was for the college. He was one of the organizers and a former president of the Chamber of Commerce of Lincoln; he had been president many years and a director of the Lincoln Public Library board, beginning his library service in 1910; and was one of the founders of the old Lincoln Chautauqua and its manager for 10 years.

ORGANIZED CHINA CO.

Giving up the practice of law here in 1911, he became secretary of the Lincoln Mining Co. Between 1914 and 1928 he served as president of the Missouri Edison Co. at Louisiana, Mo. He returned to Lincoln to lead in organizing the old Illinois China Co. and was its president from 1925 until the time it was acquired by the Stetson China Co.

The Prohibition Party of Illinois chose the late Lincoln leader as its candidate for governor in one of its campaigns.

The Courier Man of the Month in February, 1955, Harts was then saluted as "ranking near the top among those who have worked to make Lincoln and Logan county a better community." It can be appropriately added at this time that Lincoln College has lost one of its most devoted boosters and friends. He is credited in large part for the growth and development of the Lincoln educational institution.

The former queen had suffered from diabetes and in recent weeks developed a heart condition. A medical bulletin said despite a slight improvement her condition took a turn for the worse yesterday and she came at 12:59 a.m.

Princess Beatrix, it was announced, will return home at once cutting short a trip that was to have included Japan and United States.

Like England's Queen Victoria, Beatrix was called to the throne at the age of 18, married a German consort, was a stic for the formalities and conventions, and practiced homely duties as an example to her people.

World War II was a turning point in her life. She escaped England by warship four days after Hitler's armies invaded the country and spent the war years except for a trip by boat to the United States to address Congress and a trip to Canada in 1943 to visit Juliana and her daughters.
