Stocks Surge Up, Then Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead in heavy early trading today then ran out of steam and showed an irregular pattern as the afternoon got under way.

Steels provided the initial leadership as the market celebrated its achievement of an all-time high in Thursday's turbulent session.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional while the market was on the upbeat, however. A flaw in the advance, according to thorists, was that rail stocks never got off the ground, failing to "confirm" Thursday's historic peak in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Profit-taking mingled with buying early in the day but the buy side of the market was the stronger as the ticker tape ran several minutes late.

As trading wore on, however, even the steels failed to hold their gains — except for U.S. Steel which clung to a fractional advance — and there was a general clipping of prices in most groups.

Good Time at Atlanta Fete

ATLANTA — A large crowd attended the annual homecoming sponsored by American Legion Post 341, American Legion Auxiliary and Atlanta Parent Teachers association Friday and Saturday in the City Park. A parade, a program in the park, followed by a square dance and cake walk proved enjoyable.

A pie eating contest, program by "Vine Street 9" and "Notables" of Lincoln received much applause. Crowning of the queen was a highlight for the late evening entertainment. The queens determined prize awards as follows: stereo, Mrs. Ollie Benedict; portable TV; Mrs. Clara Leesman, Atlanta; Polaroid camera, Russell Cook, Atlanta; transistor, Sonny Amberg, and $50.00 cash award, Mike Mountjoy. Three State Troopers Resigning

CHICAGO (AP) — Joseph E. Ragen, state public safety director, has announced the resignation of three state troopers accused of accepting kickbacks for steering business to tow truck operators.

The resignations were announced by Ragen Monday. He said he expected more troopers accused in connection with the kickback investigation to quit.

Ragen declined to identify the troopers. He said none were officers.

The safety director said his investigators have discovered that some troopers charged gas, oil and accessories to the state, then later drove their own automobiles to the service stations to receive the items.

This finding, Ragen said, was a by-product of the probe of payoffs by certain tow truck operator to state police for preferential treatment.

Ragen reported five tow service operators last weekend identified 30 troopers who allegedly received the payoffs.

The troopers named were assigned to the districts in Blue Island and Crestwood and to the Illinois toll roads.

But, he added, some 50 other troopers in six counties — Du Page, Boone, Kane, Lake, Will and Winnebago—may also be involved.

Ragen said the results of the investigations will be turned over stemmed from an investigation last year into reports of payoffs in Cook County by truckers operating overweight vehicles.

This resulted in the dismissal of five state policemen, resignations of 12 and the transfer and demotion of several others.

The overweight investigation led to the discovery of two service payoffs which in turn led to the investigation into the use of state vouchers for personal automobile service.

to re Heiress' Mate Takes Overdose

SEATTLE (AP) — Charles F. Schreiner, a former Winnetka, Ill., minister who is married to the heiress to the Wrigley chewing gum fortune, is reported recovering from an apparent overdose of tranquilizers.

Schreiner, 41, was reported recuperating Thursday night in a Seattle hospital. A spokesman said he had regained consciousness Wednesday noon.

Mrs. Schreiner, 39, said her husband took the pills Tuesday night at their home on Mercer Island, a community adjoining Puget Sound near Seattle. Police found him unconscious in a vacant lot nearby.

She blamed his action on what she called "constant harassment" since their marriage in Nevada in April 1962. The ceremony followed divorces for both.

Schreiner, a former Episcopal minister in Winnetka, a Chicago suburb, is divorced from his former wife, Mrs. Dorothy Winifred Schreiner, 38, who had filed an alienation of affections suit against Schreiner's present wife. The divorce decree, in effect, ended the heart balm suit.

Mrs. Schreiner's former husband is William Hagenah Jr., vice president of the William Wrigley Jr. Co. Both Schreiner and his wife had children by their previous marriage.

Warning!

With G.M. & O. crossing gates apparently not functioning properly at Lincoln crossings, drivers are warned to take it "slow and easy."
Drivers on Pulaski and Clinton streets Monday noted the gates go down, then up before trains get to the crossings. As the gates lift, drivers start over the crossings — only to see trains approaching at a not-too-slow speed. One driver had a close call at the Deatur st. crossing Monday.
In another instance, the gate, lowering a second time, almost clipped the ear of a driver who had started over the crossing. The railroad has been notified of the condition and spokesman said remedial action will be taken at once. In the meantime, the word is "slow and easy at all crossings."
A woman driver probably averted an accident Monday at the Pulaski st. crossing when she took it upon herself to warn approaching drivers the safety gates were not functioning properly.

Emma A. Zahnow Rites Wednesday

Change in Weather Eyed Across State

Prospects for a change in the weather are seen in the forecast of the Weather Bureau Thursday as the Logan area had a continuation of summer temperatures. It was 88 degrees in Lincoln Wednesday — low in the night was 57 — and at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, the reading was 60 degrees.

ANOTHER 80s DAY
(By ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Clouds heralding a change of weather entered the northwestern part of Illinois today while the rest of the state enjoyed another day of out-of-season summer — sunny skies, a gentle south breeze and temperatures well up in the 80s.

The Weather Bureau said showers will push across the extreme northern part of the state by evening and probably to midstate during tonight.

nedy's plan for health care for the aged will not reach the House for debate this year.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, (D-Ark.,) confirmed Wednesday that the Ways and Means Committee, which will handle the legislation, is unlikely to take further action on the measure before 1964.

He assured the Rules Committee that he would not seek House debate on the proposal this year.

TELL-TALES: Editor's Notebook....

The late Albert W. Arnold of Lincoln, who devoted many years of his life to B.P.O. Elks, is being remembered by the Illinois Elks Assn. of which he was a past president and secretary, the latter for more than 20 years. The state fraternal organization has established an Albert Arnold Memorial Fund for which more than $1,000 has already been contributed.

The memorial fund will go to the Elks National Foundation whose funds go to aid deserving students in their quest for a higher education. The fund is to be dedicated at a state Elks meeting the last weekend in September in Sycamore.

Arnold was a member of the Courier Man of the Month family.

Elm trees have been taking the count for a long time in our fair city. — And this summer, the birch trees have been doing the same.

"Don't Do It," pealed out in a childish voice at a church wedding just as the pastor intoned — "Wilt thou have (name) to be thy wedded husband?" The interruption came from a two and a half-year old girl who was protesting the baby-sitter's grasp on her arm to keep her from "touring" the church.

It's surprising how many Lincoln housewives ignore their cook books and concoct goodies for the table "out of their head."

Fire is no respecter of persons. At Urbana, the home of the fire chief was damaged by a blaze to the extent of $450. The flames were kept confined to a bedroom but there was smoke damage in all of the upstairs.

Material used for maintenance work on Woodland Rd. and Kookuk st. (Rt. 10) churned up by wheels of traffic into a cloud of dust. Made one think he was driving on a country road.

Two enterprising Normal youths earned college money this summer by painting house numbers on curbs in Lincoln. The youths did the job, after obtaining permission from the city council, on a free offering basis, asking only for a "smile" from the home occupants and whatever donations they wished to give.

Many Lincoln residents were not a home when the numbering took place and never had the opportunity to thank the two boys, Jeff Neal and Richard Calhoun, for the lettering, which is definitely an improvement and helpful guide in our city. For those who missed the opportunity to thank them in person, the youths may be reached by writing to Jeff Neal, 10 Clinton Place, Normal, Ill.

A squirrel "resides" at the Dr. John J. Shute home, 310 Lincoln ave. It's "home" is a tree near the house from which it comes to accept corn and other food offered by the family. — It goes without saying the squirrel is no friend of another pet — a white cat called "Angel."

Kiwanis Club bulletin editor Harry F. Augspurger pulled a fast one on members of the service club. Noting with regret at the family picnic of Kiwanis that some members didn't know other members, he devoted the next bulletin to names and addresses of Kiwanians. BUT the week's bulletin contained only one page on which was only a part of the names. "You'll get the rest of the names in the next bulletin," he promises — explaining he took this unusual way to stress acquaintanceship.

a good job of "doodling" on the napkin at his place at the Concerts Assn. kickoff dinner table. Admitting his "drawings" were "pointless but fun."

More and more people are noting with appreciation the carillon music being heard daily from First Presbyterian church in Lincoln at the noon hour and at 6 p.m. The carillon is a gift in memory of the late Charles H. Woods and Norman Stanley Woods, his son.

The hymns are played automatically and in addition to being pleasing to the ear, inform of the hour. Dedication of the gift is to be Nov. 3.

The term, "population explosion," has become rather commonplace. But it is really exploding now — with quintuplets being born in two countries — and quadruplets arriving, too.

Word to the Wise — we'd not advise you to count on any reduction in U.S. income taxes. Neither politics nor legislation are stable enough to make it intelligent to "spend" the levy cut just yet.

The family bus looked good to us until we began seeing pictures of the new cars which will be on the highways in 1964.

Police officer reported his decision a man was intoxicated was based on this — "I wasn't sure when he staggered down the street and fell. But when he put a nickel in the mail box, looked up at the courthouse clock and said, 'Good Heavens, I've lost 14 pounds.' I arrested him."

Lincoln housewife kept thinking there were fewer and fewer artificial flowers in the household bouquet — and there were! The kindergarten admitted he had been taking the every now and then to his teacher — perhaps as a substitute for the traditional apple. This boy noted others were taking offerings for the teacher and didn't want to be left out.

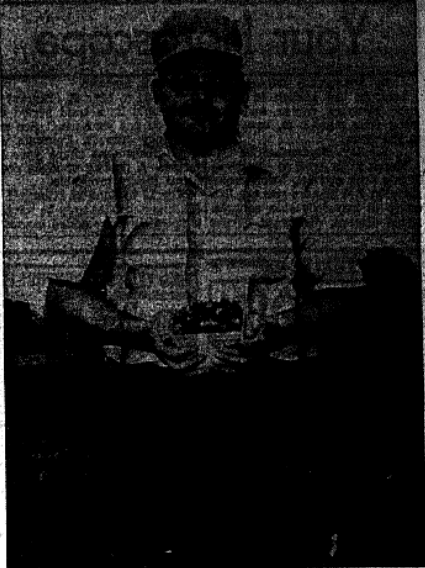

First thing we know, we won't be able to use the lawn for the leaves. — The Fall "drop" of lawn grass has been about as heavy as the corn and soybean yields expected in Logan's fields.

An old-timer, we have determined, is one who can remember way back when filling stations had only one pump apiece.

Our baseball friend already has a reserved seat for the World Series. It's on the front row before the family T. V. set. — Which reminds me, they are the melancholy days among St. Louis Cardinals fans. For them, Doomsday has come — but there will be another season — in 1964. Well anyway, there's consolation in the fact the Redbirds don't have to play the Yankees.

Eagles of Lincoln Aerie Making Plans for Anniversary Marking

At a supper and initiation Tuesday, Sept. 24, Lincoln Eagles will observe their 16th anniversary. The supper will be at 6:30 p.m., followed by the initiation ceremony at 8 p.m. There are 16 in the initiatory class.

The local lodge was instituted Sept. 27, 1949, at the local Odd Fellows Hall, William Lessen being the first president, with Francis Loobey following as second president. In 1948 the lodge moved to the Kerpan building on S. Chicago st., and had meetings and social events there until December of 1955, when the lodge moved in its new building at 1621 N. Kickapoo st.

This new home was built by the members after their regular day's work, with Fred Stallbohm being chairman of the building project.

Since then the lodge has purchased another 100 feet to the north of the present property for a picnic area and has also conditioned the lodge home, the Auxiliary playing a big part in the improvements. The ladies auxiliary was instituted in October, 1949, with Ann Stallbohm as the first madam president and Agnes Ryan the second.

Members are urged to attend the Sept. 24 supper and anniversary initiation. "Doc." T. V. Watson, Past State President from Bloomington will be guest speaker. Watson is a member for 30 years in Bloomington Eagles lodge, was founder of the "Eagle Damon Runyon Cancer Fund" and helped to raise more than one million dollars for this fund from Eagles Aeries in the past eight years. He will be accompanied by Harley Greene, director of services for the city of Bloomington, and life member of the Eagle Lodge of that city.

Conservation Tour Reported

Logan County Soil Conservation men, and key office personnel toured conservation practices Sept. 18. Leading the tour group were Farm Planner Bill McCartney, and Soil Conservationist Harry Helmsing. The tour was set up to acquaint more people with the type of conservation practices being carried out in Logan county, costs, and future needs for soil saving practices.

The first stop on Bunn Investment Company land south of Beason showed a large concrete structure used to protect erosion of a newly established waterway, and cutback of tile outlets. Other stops included another structure established in 1959 on the Harry Martin farm south of Mt. Pulaski, a hooded tile inlet to control drainage into Lake Fork Drainage ditch, a mile long grass waterway on the Walter Buckles farm, and contoured corn on land with steep slopes on the farm of Ed Wright east of Elkhart.

Logan county farmers and farm owners are encouraged to visit these or other conservation practices to see how they might be adapted to their farms. Technical assistance is offered by the Soil Conservation Service, and many soil saving practices qualify for cost sharing payments available from the county A.S.C.S. office.

Saturday, Sept. 28th, the lodge will honor its past presidents and those of the Auxiliary at a dinner-dance at 6:30 p.m. Call-in reservations are required of members of the Aerie and Auxiliary, except the past presidents. Reservations are due by Friday, Sept. 27 for the sixteenth anniversary and past presidents banquet.

Members of the press and radio will be guests of the Eagles with States Atty. Darrell Klink being the guest speaker at the banquet. Hoot Hayes will be emcee for the program and dancing will start at 9 p.m.

Sherman Girl Of Six Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U. S. A) — A 6-year-old girl was killed and six persons were injured, two critically, in the collision of two cars on a country road intersection 10 miles north of Springfield Tuesday night.

The victim was Rebecca Schmidt of rural Sherman, a passenger in her family car.

State trooper Robert Walsh said he found Walter Black, 14, of Riverton behind the wheel of the second auto. Black reportedly denied being the driver. Walsh said the Schmidt auto was hit broadside.

Frank Vala, 14, of Riverton, in Black's car, was critically injured.

Also critically injured was Stephen Schmidt, 3, a brother of the victim.

Black, Mrs. Vera Donna Schmidt, 31, of rural Sherman, and her children, Vickie, 8, and David, 9, were hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

State Senator Meyer of Danville Candidate for Secretary of State

DANVILLE, Ill. (U. S. A) — A downstate legislator has announced he will be the second GOP candidate for secretary of state and has asked for backing from Chicago Republicans.

State Sen. John P. Meyer of Danville told some 700 persons at a $50-a-plate dinner for him Tuesday night that he would enter the 1964 April primary race and asked Chicago GOP leaders: "... To display the same fairness and considerations to my candidacy that I have given to their problems for the past 16 years."

Meyer said that if this is done, "this question of downstate versus Chicago will not be a problem and I will be examined truly on the basis of a state candidate for statewide responsibility."

Congressman E. J. Hoffman of Wheaton, a Du Page County GOP political power, has said he will seek the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

Meyer, 43, who has served four years in the Illinois House and 12 years in the state Senate, said it had been questioned whether his being from downstate would "generate sufficient candidate appeal from Cook County."

"Examination of this question will show that time after time I have stood on the floor of the House and Senate and fought for programs that would eliminate vote fraud in the city of Chicago," Meyer said.

"Time after time, I have fought to alleviate the tax burden of the people of Chicago," he said.

Meyer, an attorney, who will be making his first bid for state office, said he is qualified to seek the post because of his experience as a legislator and a lawyer.

Former Gov. William G. Stratton and three announced candidates for the Republican nomination for governor next year were among those present at the National Guard armory dinner.

The candidates are Charles F. Carpentier, secretary of state; Hayes Robertson, GOP Cook County chairman; and Charles Percy of Kenilworth, Bell & Howell Corp. executive.

Mary Lee said they were not yet married but were in love.

Calls on Youths to Solve Major Problems of World

HARTSBURG — Dean Karl Gardner of the U. of I. college of agriculture told Future Farmers of America at a sectional meeting here Tuesday evening, it is on their shoulders to take the lead in solving agriculture's and the world's major problem today.

What is the biggest single problem in the world today? Is it communism? The racial problem? It is none of these but one that people of the United States tend to overlook — the shortage of food in the world. Half of the population of the world goes to bed hungry, wakes up hungry and wonders from where their next meal will come, Dr. Gardner said.

This food for the hungry people of the world will come from "your farms and farms like yours all over the world," the educator pointed out. "It is not the present leaders of the world who will solve this problem but the youth of the world."

Dean Gardner, went on to say that half of all farm products that are exported from the United States are produced in less than a 300-mile radius of Chicago. "This makes the farms in this section of the country very important to the world as well as to the United States," he showed.

"We must impress upon the young men of the rural areas the great need for agriculture, and that they are vitally important to the world."

Many statistics were used by the speaker in pointing out the increase in production, what the farms of the United States are presently producing and what they will need to produce in the future in order to alleviate the food shortage which results from poor distribution.

Dean Gardner does not agree that it is a shame to waste youth on the young, and he feels that the future of the world and the United States rests squarely on the shoulders of its young people, he said.

Following Dr. Gardner, Robert Potts of Williamsfield, vice president of Illinois Future Farmers, gave an inspiring and challenging talk to the youths assembled. They will succeed in ratio to their desire to make good, he declared, urging them to full participation in the activities of Future Farmers of America.

Welcoming the group to the opening session of the leadership training school was George Shive, local school superintendent. Following the dinner entertainment was provided by two high school seniors, Miss Rebecca Leeman, vocalist; and Miss Cheryl Ruben, pianist.

Teacher Only 4 Feet Tall— Looks Pupils Right in Eye

DARRINGTON, Wash. (AP) — First-grade pupils in Miss Frieda Groenveld's class can look their teacher squarely in the eyes. She is 4-feet tall.

Being of a size with her pupils bothers neither Miss Groenveld nor the youngsters.

"Children need an answer," she says. "When you give it to them, they's all they need."

This is her first month as a teacher and Miss Groenveld admits she had the usual opening-day jitters of the new schoolma'm.

One boy, clutching his mother's hand, looked the teacher in the eyes and asked: "How come you are so little?"

"BIG AS YOU ARE"

"I'm as big as you are," said the little teacher as the mother blushed. "Aren't we going to have often drop by to help her with physical tasks, such as posting bulletin board material.

"The thing that matters when people look differently at you," she says, "is how you, yourself take it."

"If people are going to laugh, I'll laugh with them."

But to get the job done, says the mayor, the well-to-do parents of the children will have to be rehabilitated first.

WASHINGTON in a congressional subcommittee accused the State Department of "hiding the facts from the American public" by restricting newsmen in South Viet Nam.

The criticism came from the House subcommittee on information, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, (D-Calif.).

"In recent weeks," a report by the subcommittee said, "the American public has been surprised by developments in Viet Nam—developments which have been many months in the making."

The report said "the restrictive U.S. press policy in Viet Nam... unquestionably contributed to the lack of information about conditions in Viet Nam which created an international crisis."

"Instead of hiding the facts from the American public," the subcommittee concluded, "the State Department should have done everything possible to expose the true situation to full view."

The subcommittee directed most of its criticism at a cable prepared by Carl T. Rowan, now ambassador to Finland, and sent over the signature of Secretary of State Dean Rusk to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon early in 1962.

This cable is still classified although its provisions are no longer in effect. The subcommittee, paraphrasing the language, said it contained these guidelines for handling American news correspondents in Viet Nam:

1. "News stories which criticize the President Ngo Dinh Diem government could not be 'forbidden,' but they only increase the difficulties of the U.S. job."

2. "Newsman should be advised that trifling or thoughtless criticism of the Diem government would make it difficult to maintain cooperation between the United States and Diem."

3. "Newsman should not be transported on military activities of the type that are likely to result in undesirable stories."

Performer Tumbles
 ST. LOUIS — Francisco Novas, 26, a performer with the Ringling Brothers Circus, fell 30 feet from a trapeze bar Sunday night and was severely injured.

Novas, circus officials said, was performing as a member of the Flying Gibsons act, when one of the trapeze wires caught on a hook and jerked Novas from the bar.

The performer fell 25-feet below to a safety net, and then bounced to the floor. Some 8,000 spectators saw the accident. Novas was taken to Bethesda Hospital, St. Louis, where he was admitted. Hospital officials said he suffered severe chest and hip injuries.
